A Woman's Millions
Courage Conquers All
Credit Overstimulated
1,000,000 Bungalows

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

WHAT will be the size of American great fortunes 100 years from now? Hundreds of millions begetting others?

• • •

Stephen Harkness was an admirably benevolent man, giving away large sums. There was no speculating, no sudden rise of his money slowly increasing, in the form of fabulous wealth, like a rolling snowball.

• • •

Stephen owned Standard Oil stocks, hundreds of thousands of shares, and thousands of shares of General Electric, Telephone & Telegraph, Anaconda and other railroad stocks.

• • •

INHERITANCE taxes take sixteen millions of her fortune. Her son will get sixty millions. How much will he leave, if he invests in the United States and lets arithmetic and compound earnings take their course?

Foolishness and many children help to dissipate great fortunes, but the wealth of the American billionaire, of whom we have several, is piling up faster than it can be spent.

• • •

BUT don't worry, or join the Communists. It is not what one man owns, but how he spends it, that counts. If the money goes back into industry no harm is done—except that the children of the ablest business men, having no incentive to make them work, usually become parasites.

• • •

COURAGE overcomes disaster; the brave Japanese prove it. The yen has risen 20 per cent in a year, the Bank of Japan reduces its discount rate, and the nation will soon join Britain and the United States on a gold basis.

• • •

PROTECTIVE tariff, strict economy and abstaining from foreign loans have enabled Japan in a few years to rise from the great earthquake calamity to high prosperity—a great and courageous nation.

• • •

THIS column long ago warned stock gamblers that the weaker motor stocks might cause trouble. Nothing is wrong with the motor industry, but there has been excessive stimulation of buying, by urging false credits.

"Bring in your old car, pay down a few dollars and drive away a new car," is too tempting to the foolish.

• • •

Cars bought too hastily, second-hand cars junked too hastily, must now be digested.

• • •

DR. DUNLOP, professor of experimental phychology at Johns Hopkins, says that smokers are more dependable than non-smokers.

It may be true. Smoking is a substitute for thinking. A man blowing smoke into the air is not thinking up mischief, or anything else—men smoke with chin tilted upward, they think with the chin down.

• • •

THE professor says there is no proof that tobacco hurts women more than men.

There is proof that it makes women smell of tobacco, and that hurts their marriage chances.

• • •

WHY do many Americans never "get ahead?"

"One billion dollars is the total of worthless stocks sold yearly in the United States." Charge up another billion to race tracks gambling and more than a billion to Wall Street gambling, and you see where the savings go.

• • •

THREE thousand million dollars thrown away every year! That's more enough to buy each year one million bungalows at $3,000 each.

• • •

PROFESSOR HUSSEY and Rossiter of Michigan University leave for South Africa next Saturday to study double stars in the southern hemisphere.

On a hill in the Orange Free State they will erect a 27-inch telescope and work in wonderfully clear atmosphere.

• • •

THAT interests the average citizen less than any detail in the world of crime, divorce, football or pugilism. It will interest future ages more than the battle of Waterloo or any other famous conflict.

• • •

He praises prohibition, also, but will never persuade Britons to adopt it.

He retains the theory that the individual should decide personal questions for himself.

He even maintain that enjoyment of a glass of beer is more important than increased savings.

Think of that for depravity!

FORMER DRY DIRECTOR DENIED REVIEW OF CASE

Washington, Oct. 18—The Supreme court today denied the petition of James E. Russell, Merle B. Copeland and Warren E. Barnett for a review of their conviction in Federal Court at Cleveland, Ohio, on charges of violating the prohibition law and evading revenue taxes.

Mr. Russell formerly was prohibition director for Ohio and a member of con-

MAY AMPUTATE ARM

Sister Escapes Injury by Dodging from Path of Car

Charles, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mosier, 421 Park-blvd, is in the City Hospital, seriously injured, as the result of having been struck by an automobile at noon today as he was crossing Park-blvd near W. Columbia-st. The automobile involved in the accident was said by police to be that of Hilton LaRue, 387 Park-blvd, following a check of license numbers.

It is feared that one of the accident victim's arms is crushed so badly that amputation will be necessary. In addition to the arm injury, the boy was seriously cut and bruised about the head.

The boy was returning from a grocery store and ran into the path of the automobile in crossing the street, according to accounts of the mishap.

Mary Elizabeth, a sister of the boy, was a witness of the accident. She escaped injury by dodging from the path of the car.

The injured lad was taken at once to the City Hospital, where he received surgical attention from Dr. A. A. Stauter.

MUSKINGUM FOOTBALL PLAYER HURT IN CRASH

Gilbert Heed, Concord, Injured When Auto Overturns West of Meeker

Gilbert Heed, right half on the Muskingum College football team, yesterday returned to his home at New Concord after spending Saturday night in City Hospital, receiving treatment for a deep gash and bruises about his head and right eye, sustained when the machine in which he was riding overturned in the witch just west of Meeker on the Kenton-rd at 6:30, Saturday night.

Four other occupants of the auto escaped injury in the crash.

Heed with three other members of the Muskingum football squad was returning from Ada in a Flint machine driven by a student of the college, following the Ohio Northern-Muskingum football game.

The car left the road as it was rounding a curve in the Kenton-rd just west of Meeker, when the driver lost control.

The injured man was brought to City Hospital by Dr. C. J. Altmaier, S. Prospect-st, and Francis Bacon, of this city, who were also returning from the Ohio Northern - Muskingum game where Bacon acted as referee.

Thirteen stitches were necessary to close the gash over Heed's eye.

WHITE GLOVES CLEW IN $37,000 SAFE CRACKING

Sixteen Bandits, Working as Machine, Spend Eight Hours on Vault

Chicago, Oct. 18—With several pairs of clean white gloves as their only clew, police today were seeking the trail of 16 bandits, who, functioning as a machine, labored for eight hours over the safes in the plant of the Kellogg Switchboard & Supply Co., finally "cracked" them and escaped with loot valued at $37,800.

The Kellogg plant is valued at $2,000,000. It is five stories high and covers nearly an entire block. The bandit army took possession shortly after midnight Sunday. The half dozen employes watching the premises were bound and gagged and locked in a room.

The bandits worked deliberately on the five large safes, in which they hoped to find supplies of platinum used in the manufacture of electrical switchboards. Tiny holes were drilled for nitro-glycerine. After the safes had been blown open, the bandits went over the debris methodically, sorting out that which was of value.

Only $2,000 worth of platinum was found. Most of the loot was in stocks and negotiable paper. A total of $2,000 in cash was obtained by the bandits.

MYERS Y. COOPER VISITS IN MARION, MAY SPEAK HERE

Republican Gubernatorial Candidate Confers with Chairman Fred W. Warner

Myers Y. Cooper o Cincinnati, Republican nominee for governor, was a visitor in Marion Saturday night and Sunday morning and while here informed Fred W. Warner, chairman of the state Republican Central and Executive Committees, that he hopes to arrange his schedule so that he will be able to speak in this city before the close of the campaign.

While arranging a date for Marion will be extremely difficult, due to the fact that the campaign committee has outlined an itinerary which takes up virtually all of Mr. Cooper's time from now until election day, he said that he will put forth every effort to revise the plans in order to address the voters here.

Mr. Cooper and his wife came to Marion late Saturday night from Kenton, where he gave the principal speech at a Republican rally. They spent the night at Hotel Harding and Sunday morning Mr. Warner called for a conference with the candidate for governor.

Discuss Campaign

Warner and Cooper discussed various phases of the campaign, particularly the list of 12 questions regarding important issues that Cooper has submitted to Governor Donahey and which have not been answered thus far. Coopers' stand on the labor question, outlined definitely in his Kenton speech, was also one of the subjects in the conference with the state chairman. Cooper informed his Kenton audience that he has been an employer of labor many years and that no strike or other serious trouble has ever developed in any of his industries.

He declared that 30 cents of every dollar earned by the laboring man today is taken to maintain the cost of government. He asserted that this percentage is far too high and that every public official should take part in a movement to reduce it.

KEREKJARTO, VIOLINIST, MARRIES CLEVELAND GIRL

The couple was married here last night by Dr. A. B. Meldrum, at Old Stone Presbyterian Church, with Rose Ponselle as the bride's attendant. Kerekjarto and the singer gave a concert an hour before the wedding.

ANDREWS TO STAY

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 18—Declaring that he has made "material progress" in the last 12 months toward making the United States dry, General Lincoln C. Andrews, prohibition czar, today announced there no longer exists a reason for his threatened resignation Nov. 1, and that he will continue in office.

Installation of New Deep Well Pump, Shower Baths Planned

Improvement of the boys' and girls' lavatories, installation of a new deep well pump, and other general repairs are included in the plans and specifications of the building program for Marion County Children's Home, two miles south of Marion on the Delaware-rd.

Plans for the repair work were prepared by Architect J. Lewis Ellis, 149 W. Center-st, and are on file in the office of county commissioners. Cost of improvements will not exceed $2,000.

The new pump to be installed will solve the proglem of supplying water to the home during a dry weather period. Formerly when water in the drilled well on the premises became low, the pump failed to serve its purpose.

The new pump will reach to the bottom of the well and will connect with the pipes in the buildings.

The long needed improvements in the boys' and girls' toilets and wash rooms will be welcomed with delight by the children.

Four new showers will be installed in bath rooms. A drinking fountain is planned for the girls' toilet. All woodwork in the to rooms will be repainted.

Bids for the contract for the improvements will be received soon, it was announced today.

ALLEGED ESCAPE LEADER IS ARRESTED IN DAYTON

Dayton, Oct. 18—Police today are holding Silvester Wolverton, 28, for Cincinnati authorities following his capture here yesterday.

This is the third time Wolverton has been captured by local police.

He is alleged to be the leader of the gang of 17 prisoners who escaped from the Hamilton County jail recently. He was said to have been armed heavily when police found him near the Soldiers' Home.

TINNEY NEAR DEATH

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 18—Frank Tinney, comedian of Earl Carroll's Vanities, again hovered at the point of death today following a serious relapse. The comedian has been in St. Mary's Hospital for three weeks suffering from the effects of broken ribs which were fractured in a fall from a taxicab.

CONGRESSMAN FLETCHER HURT IN AUTO MISHAP

Injuries Show Up Week After Accident on Kenton Highway Near Meeker

Congressman Brooks Fletcher, representative of the eighth district of Ohio and a candidate for reelection, is today confined to his home, 237 Thoreau, suffering with injuries sustained a week ago when his automobile skidded and overturned near Meeker, on the Kenton-rd.

Congressman Fletcher announced today that his program of addresses scheduled for the next few days would be carried out by Cyrus Locher, Columbus, state secretary of commerce.

According to his physician, Mr. Fletcher suffered injury to his spine and must have completed rest before he will be able to resum his work.

Crowded Off Road

The accident in which Mr. Fletcher was injured occurred a week ago when he was crowded off the pavement onto the wet grass at the side of the road by a car coming in the opposite direction. His car skidded and completely overturned.

At the time he did not notice any ill effects, Mrs. Fletcher stated today in issuing a statement concerning her husband's condition, but yesterday the pain became unendurable and he was forced to cancel his speaking engagements at Newark today and Coshocton, Tuesday.

Mr. Fletcher's physician announced today that the congressman will be able to resume his work the latter part of the week if he continues to respond to treatments satisfactorily.

NEW SUSPECT HELD IN $150,000 MAIL ROBBERY

Elizabeth, N. J., Oct. 18—Detention of a new suspect in the $150,000 Elizabeth mail truck robbery and the abandonment of the intensive man hunt in the Watchung Mountains marked the progress today in efforts to run down the eight bandits who shot and killed the truck driver and wounded two other men in a sensational holdup last week.

The suspect, who gave his name as William Gleason, 33, is being held here pending a checkup on his recent whereabouts.

980 PERSONS GO TO LOCAL POLLS TO REGISTER

Records Show About 2,000 Not Qualified by Registration To Vote

BELOW 1924 RECORD

Officials Says Half of Persons at Polls Friday, Saturday Were Transfers

Registration of voters, totaling 980 in the city of Marion, Friday and Saturday, compares favorable with records of former years, A. W. Kette, clerk of the County Board of Elections, stated today in giving out a summary of the four wards.

The total is considerably larger than the record of last year's registration prior to the municipal election but smaller than the number listed in 1924 preceding the presidential election.

While a complete survey of last week's registration has not been made and a definite analysis is not available, election board officials are of the opinion that about half of the total of 980 represents new voters, the other half consisting of transfers. As estimates made prior to Friday, based on a city-wide poll taken by Republican precinct workers, placed the number of unregistered voters at about 2,500, the latest registration figures indicate that there are still about 2,000 who have failed to qualify for casting their ballots in November.

Ward Totals

Distribution of the two-day registration by wards is as follows: First ward 280, Second 155, Third 325, Fourth 220.

The smallest registration was in Precinct G of the Third Ward, where only eight names were listed. The voting place in this precinct is at the Bechtel & Weizel Tin Shop on W. Columbia-st. The largest registration, totaling 58, is

EAGLES EXPECTED TO BACK COMMUNITY CHEST

Secretary Says Lodge May Follow Lead of Elks and Indorse Plan

That the proposal to establish a Community Chest in Marion, advocated in a resolution adopted by Marion Lodge of Elks at a meeting last week, will be indorsed at the next meeting of Buckeye Aerie, No. 237, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was indicated in a statement made today by John Abel, secretary of the Eagles. A resolution similar to the one adopted by the Elks will probably be introduced at the weekly session of the Eagles, Wednesday night.

Mr. Abel states that the Community Chest project has been under discussion among officers of the local Eagles Lodge for some time and that action on the matter had been planned for last Wednesday night but was postponed pending further discussion.

Others May Aid

That other lodges and civic organizations will join in the movement is generally predicted by advocates of a Community Chest. The matter has been in a formative state for several years and only definite action, such as that taken by the Elks, has been needed to give impetus to the movement, it is asserted.

A Community Chest, like the one proposed for Marion, serves as a substitute for the numerous campaigns that are now necessary for financing charity and welfare work and is claimed to be the only satisfactory way of handling such projects. It places distribution of funds in the hands of a central governing body and prevents overlapping activities which can not be avoided under the present arrangements, promoters of the plan say.

BURGLAR JUMPS FROM WINDOW AS MAN AWAKES

Paul S. Gilbert, Windsor-St, Scares Intruder, Who Escapes with $58

Burglars who visited the home of Paul S. Gilbert at 437 Windsor-st, using two automobiles in their expedition, were forced to flee with their work only partially completed when Mr. Gilbert was awakened about 1 o'clock this morning by one of the band prowling about his room and frightened the intruder from the premises.

The man made his escape by jumping through a bath-room window, taking with him $58 that he had found in Mr. Gilbert's trousers' pocket but failing to get $92 that had been hidden beneath the mattress of the bed.

Accomplices of the burglar are believed to have been waiting in two automobiles, a Ford coupe and an old Ford touring car, which were parked on the street near the Gilbert home and which sped away immediately after the robbery.

After Receipts

Mr. Gilbert, who operates a grocery at the rear of his home, is of the opinion that the burglars were after the Saturday receipts of his business. Part of this money he had deposited in the bank late Saturday and the remainder consisted of the $58 taken by the robbers and the $92 that had been secreted under the mattress.

When Mr. Gilbert was awakened, the burglar was at the side of the bed running his hands over Gilbert's body apparently to ascertain if he was wearing a money belt. Gilbert leaped from

The house-to-house canvass will be organized in the various wards with women as captains of each ward. Industries throughout the city will be handled personally by Captain Killoch.

CHEMIST'S TESTIMONY IN FAVOR OF BALANESCU

Cleveland, Oct. 18—A smashing blow was dealt the tower of evidence that was carefully built up against Ernst "Frenchy" Balanescu, charged with manslaughter as a result of the death of his sweetheart, Dorothy Elizabeth Kirk, when the state's own witness, City Chemist G. H. Voerg, testified today the "love pills and potions," alleged to have been given the girl by the medical student could not have caused her death.

Evidence had disclosed that Balanescu had purchased only 10 such pills and in his notes to the girl advised against her taking more than one at a time.

MARIE, EUROPE'S MOST BELOVED RULER, ARRIVES

USUAL GOTHAM WELCOME

Thousands Cheer While Ribboned Ticker Tape Is Hurled from Skyscrapers

New York, Oct. 18—Queen Marie of Roumania arrived in New York at 11:50 o'clock this morning, greeted by the roaring welcome of the world's greatest democracy.

Europe's most beloved ruler landed on American soil at the Battery with the crash of a royal salute of 21 guns fading before the greater tumult of the cheering thousands who waited in the rain to greet her.

As the procession approached city hall for the official welcome by Mayor Walker, the rain ceased. The thousands of workers, free during the lunch hour, swarmed from tall office buildings to add to the congestion. Traffic throughout the district was practically at a standstill.

As the royal party, preceded by a military and police escort and brass band, made its way up the Broadway canyon from the Battery to city hall, the usual New York welcome was given.

Mardi Gras Spirit

From countless windows high in the skyscrapers, thousands of ribbons of ticker tape, giving a mardi gras atmosphere to the ceremony, streamed down to the street, sweeping over the procession and the royal car.

A carpet of royal crimson stretched down the steps of the city hall to the spot where the car bearing the queen stopped.

All across the square was a double line of soldiers, and the guests passed through a lane of soldiers into the building.

Gorgeous diplomatic uniforms worn by officials of the Roumanian legation who had come to welcome their queen made a spot of color in the midst of olive drab and navy blue.

Crowd Dense

The crowd was so dense that police were forced to use their nightsticks to keep the onlookers out of the street, and mounted men rode through the stragglers to keep them moving. During the trip, Queen Marie nodded right and left, acknowledging the cheers which greeted her approach. She was holding a huge bouquet of roses, as was Princess Ileane who followed in the next car. Prince Nicholas was in the third car.

Queen Marie was in an open auto and craned her neck like any tourist as she gazed at the tall buildings towering above her. She rode with Grover Whalen, chairman of the reception committee. In the princess' car was Mrs. Vincent Astor, who has been appointed lady in waiting to the royal party.

Admiral Charles Plunkett and General Charles P. Summerall accompanied Prince Nicholas.

Has Narrow Escape

All the officers were in full dress uniforms, resplendent with gold braid.

Queen Marie narrowly escaped being the victim of an admirer's zeal today while the royal party was proceeding up Broadway to be welcomed at city hall.

BANDIT TRIO KIDNAPS PARTY, TAKES JEWELS

Wife of U. S. Senator One of Five Losing $15,000 in Escapade

New York, Oct. 18 — Apparently without any clew save a description of the three bandits, 1,200 detectives under the personal direction of Commissioner McLaughlin, are making a citywide search today for the holdup men who escaped with $15,000 in jewels from an automobile containing Mrs. William M. Calder, wife of former United States Senator Calder; their daughter, Mrs. Robert C. Lee; Mrs. Calder's sister, Mrs. William M. Barloe, and the Calder chauffeur and his wife.

The party in the car were not only held up, but were kidnaped. After a wild ride of an hour through Brooklyn streets, the bandits finally dumped their victims out of their own car exactly in front of Commissioner McLaughlin's home. It was from the police head's apartment building that the frantic women called the police for help.

The three bandits were described as "young, looking like dope fiends."

STILL CLINGS TO GOLDEN TRESSES

The Hon. Dolores Mullins, daughter of Sir John Mullins and sister of Princess Imeritinsky, is famous for two things, first, her striking beauty and second, her courage. She is listed among the courageous because she insists on clinging to her long golden tresses, despite the pleadings of her friends to join the bobbed-hair lassies. It takes real courage nowadays, they say, to appear in public minus the short hair cut. Dolores is one of the very few unbobbed beauties of England.

Los Angeles, Oct. 18—Because she said she had not been a good mother to her children, Mrs. Ada Chamberlain gave deadly sleeping poisons to her three youngsters—Edwina, 9; Delaya, 7, and John, 4—and then ended her own life in a gas filled room.

While waiting for the deadly fumes to take effect, the mother wrote:

LOCAL NATIONAL GUARD TO USE SCHOOL SYSTEM

Howitzer and D Companies Will Inaugurate New Method of Grading Men

Announcement that a new system of grading, similar to that used in the public schools, has been adopted for the Ohio National Guard and will be used as the basis of making promotions, has been received by officers of Howitzer and D. Companies of Marion. The two companies are now preparing to put the plan into effect. Orders and instructions regarding the new system were received here today from headquarters of the 37th Division of the National Guard at Columbus.

Grade cards, similar to those used in public schools, will provide a record of tests given members of the Guard. This record will indicate their progress and fitness for promotion. In case promotion is recommended, the soldiers' grade card must accompany the recommendation.

All promotions above the grade of a Private, First Class, are to be made at Regimental headquarters, located in Columbus, upon recommendation of the company commander. Special examinations for commissions will be required, as heretofore, but in addition the soldier's grade of qualification card will have an important bearing on promotions in the future.

The Maytag Company was quick to recognize the value of cast-aluminum for building a tub of outstanding advantages. In the unique design of the Maytag tub, that is so scientifically-shaped that it adds greatly to the turbulent water-action produced by the Maytag gyratator, lies the secret of the Maytag's cleaner washing.

A continuously-agitated water-action in every inch of the tub all of the time. No idle water! Every particle of soap continuously at work! No waste motion—economical and efficient—no wear and tear on the finest fabrics!

TROTZKY ADMITS DEFEAT AT JOSEPH STALIN'S HAND

Entire Leadership of Opposition Confesses Violating Party Discipline

[illegible], Oct. 18—Leon Trotzky has [illegible] admitted his complete political [illegible] at the hands of Joseph Stalin.

Trotzky and the entire leadership of [illegible] opposition including Zinevjev, [illegible], Pyatikoff and Yevdokimo [illegible] signed a signed declaration repudiating their actions tending to split the [illegible] and confessing that they violated [illegible] discipline.

The political penitents, while stating that they continue to hold their [illegible] views, announce they will [illegible] their fractional organization [illegible] unconditionally subordinate ourselves to the decisions of the communist congress and the central committee. They call on all of their supporters to follow their lead. The surrender of Trotzky and his followers, [illegible] perhaps the first surrender [illegible] has ever made, is a great victory for Stalin and increases his prestige tremendously.

Trotzky and his associates are expected to voice their views in the communist congress, but as soon as they are out-voted, they will accept the will of the majority and cease their activity in opposition, an activity which sometimes seems likely to threaten the stability of the communist party.

MRS. HALL WILL TAKE STAND AT TRIAL NOV. 3

Widow, Charged with Husband's Murder, Denounces Special Prosecutor

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 18—Mrs Frances Stevens Hall, under indictment for the murder of her husband, Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall and his "soul mate," Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, will take the stand in her own defense at her trial on Nov. 3.

In making this announcement, Mrs. Hall declared she will face the ordeal of publicity in her fight against "malicious persecution."

"I don't want to go on the stand, but I shall do so," she said. "Every time I see my name spread across a newspaper or see my picture in print, it fills me with horror."

Mrs. Hall denounced Special Prosecutor Alexander Simpson, who heads the re-opened investigation into the case. "When I take the stand, Prosecutor Simpson will have to change his tactics, deal with fact before a jury and stop his campaign of suspicion and insinuations in the newspapers," she declared.

"I have nothing to conceal and am confident he will receive from the jury a rebuke highly deserved and New Jersey again will be a fit place for decent people to live in."

Simpson would not comment on this statement saying:

"My answer will come when the trial opens."

the bed and the intruder immediately took to his heels, dashing downstairs to the bath-room and making his exit through the window, which was open and unscreened.

Police Called

Gilbert, being unarmed, did not take up the pursuit at once and is unable to furnish a description of the burglar or his accomplices. He telephoned the police department at once and officers arrived about 10 minutes after the robbers had disappeared in their Fords.

That the burglar and his aides had been prowling about the premises at least an hour prior to the time that Gilbert discovered the man in his room is indicated by the fact that about midnight, the grocer's father-in-law, A. A. Givens, who resides at the Gilbert home, heard a noise downstairs but thinking that his son-in-law had not retired made no investigation.

Mr. Gilbert was alone in the room when he awakened and discovered the burglar at work. Mrs. Gilbert was in an adjoining upstairs room with their three small children, while a third room was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Givens.

KEEN DISAPPOINTMENT IN OHIO REGISTRATION

Columbus, Oct. 18—Refreshed by the week-end rest, the field marshals of Ohio's political campaign lined up their forces today to renew with determined vigor their efforts to have their candidates returned victorious in the election two weeks hence.

Keen disappointment was voiced at both Republic and Democratic state headquarters here today at reports of an unusually light registration, which came to an end Saturday and the prediction was freely made that, as a result, the statewide vote on Nov. 2 will be the lightest in years.

While actual figures for each of the 88 counties in the state were unavailable here, party leaders took Franklin County's registration figures as a criterion and gloomily pondered the fact that the total registration for Franklin County, including Columbus, approximated 66 per cent of the figures of two years ago when virtually the same offices were to be filled at the election.

United States Senator Frank B. Willis, Republican, seeking re-election, was scheduled to open his week's campaigning activities tonight with an address at New London, while his Democratic opponent, Atlee Pomerene, was booked for a speech at Springfield. Myers Y. Cooper, Republican gubernatorial candidate, was programmed for a speaking tour of Stark County today, winding up with an evening meeting at Alliance, while Governor Donahey, seeking a third term, remained politically inactive today.

HERE'S MORE ABOUT QUEEN MARIE STARTS ON PAGE 1

rapher high in an office building threw out a roll of tape without holding to the end. The roll, tightly wrapped, flew down through the air, landing within a few inches of the queen's car.

Leaves for Capital

Within a few minutes after completing her speech at city hall, the queen and her party were taken direct to the Pennsylvania Station.

The queen and her party went at once to her private car, descending to the tracks by a freight elevator to avoid the crush of curiosity seekers gathered there to greet her.

So great was the mob that special police, meeting her car several blocks from the station, warned her that it would be impossible to make way through the concourse and suggested the private elevator as the best means of escaping the crush.

Queen Marie and her party left New York shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon for Washington. The party traveled on a private car.

Queen Given Medal

At the city hall, Queen Marie went at once from her auto to the balcony over the main entrance and spoke briefly to the thousands assembled to greet her.

From there she went to the aldermanic chamber where Mayor Walker tendered the official welcome of the city of New York and presented her with a medal as a token of New York's love and esteem.

The queen then began her acknowledgement of the mayor's greetings, leaving her seat between Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana to step forward a few paces and speak into the microphone.

"To the great people of America, I bring greetings and kindest wishes from my king and my people," Queen Marie said in a voice that, unlike that of Mayor Walker's carried to every corner of the aldermanic chamber and resounded in fine timbre ove the amplifiers outside the building. "I bring the sincerest wishes of Roumania for the well being of a nation we have come to revere and to love. I speak the hearts of my people when I tender my love to you who have greeted me so kindly and in whose welcome I see reflected the affection of one great nation for another.

"I am excited and happy over my arrival in America."

This was Queen Marie's first official utterance made after her arrival in the United States, when she received a group of correspondents who had boarded the Leviathan.

"I do hope the American people will treat me well and will take me into their hearts," said Queen Marie.

The queen was interviewed by a horde of newspapermen roped off on "C" deck. She stood in the center, smiling.

Enough of War

"I have great interest in American women and their freedom and ways," she said earnestly. "Women will one day bring about the end of war, and we have had enough of war."

"You have been called the queen of fashion," someone ventured.

"I enjoy being in style but I don't spend a fabulous sum on clothes," the queen replied.

"Would you be willing to have Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas marry Americans?"

"They are still young," the queen laughed.

"How many buckwheat cakes did you eat during the trip?" she was asked.

"Only one at a time," Queen Marie answered with a smile.

"What is the Roumanian attitude toward Jews?" she was asked by a Jewish newspapermen.

Queen Poses

"We treat them like any one else. I shall be pleased to see the Jews of America."

"What do you think of the skyline?" asked a reporter who stuck to the old ship news tradition.

"I have only seen it faintly so far. I saw the sunrise instead."

Queen Marie said she ate a "little of everything" during the voyage in order to sample all American dishes.

Princess Ileana was dressed in a powder blue dress, a navy blue velvet coat, a dark blue velvet hat. Her skirt fell six inches below her knees, while the queen's was two inches lower.

"She's a good sport," said one veteran cameraman, which was praise indeed.

Pen Always Active

"I am not an official person," Queen Marie informed the correspondents, pointing out that her visit is of a private nature.

"My government expects me to follow my own lines—namely, good will and charity to all."

The queen was garbed in a charming gown of burgundy crepe de chene, made in one piece and hanging six inches below her knees. The gown was trimmed with velvet and had a black fox collar and cuffs. She wore lizard skin shoes and beige stockings and a small cloth of gold hat. Two ropes of pearls were about her throat and she wore large pearl earnings.

The queen was questioned about her activities here and she said she intended to do some writing if she had the time.

"My pen is always active, you know," she added.

Queen Marie disembarked from the Leviathan at 11 a. m. and boarded the Macom, accompanying the official welcoming committee up the harbor to the Battery.

Look for Skyline

Queen Marie and her two children, Princess Ileana and Prince Nicholas, were out on deck long before dawn this morning, excited as children, straining their eyes for a first glimpse of New York's famous skyline as the Leviathan steamed through the gray dawn toward quarantine.

The royal passengers gave vent to excited exclamations as they sighted the hundreds of tiny squares of light twinkling through the semi-darkness from the high windows of Gotham's towering skyscrapers where office workers kept all-night vigil.

They, like most of the other passengers, had but little sleep last night. When the huge liner took on a pilot in Ambrose Channel at 5 o'clock this morning, the queen sighed happily:

"We are there. I am so glad."

Scene of Confusion

Although the queen is fully aware of the heavy program mapped out for her later today after she lands in New York, her conversation with her children on deck this morning was all of that first sight of America for which she had waited and planned for nine years.

While the royal travelers were watching through the dawn, the royal suite was a scene of confusion as the queen's retinue attended to the last minute details of packing the fifty or sixty trunks, suit cases and handbags which must be unloaded at quarantine when the royal party goes ashore.

Much of the queen's last evening on board ship was spent in presenting gifts to members of the Leviathan's crew as tokens of her voyage. To Commodore Herbert Hartley, commander, Queen Marie presented a large photograph of herself in full court dress wearing her crown and jewelry. The photograph, especially autographed, for Commodore Hartley, was mounted in a gold frame. It bore the inscription: "To Commodore Hartley," and across the lower portion of the photograph was written, "Marie — Leviathan, 1926."

Princess Ileana, almost in tears at the prospect of leaving the ship where she has had such a good time, presented a photograph of herself, similary inscribed, to Commodore Hartley.

Photographs and presents were given to members of the crew who served the royal party. The queen contributed $200 to the Leviathan's charitable fund.

WASHINGTON TO WELCOME QUEEN

Washington, Oct. 18—The gates of the capital will swing outward tonight for the second time in history to welcome a sovereign.

Honors such as are accorded only to the highest of visiting royalty will be paid to Queen Marie upon her arrival at Union Station at 6 p. m. A full war strength squadron of cavalry, a battalion of marines in dress uniforms, and the C. S. army band will constitute the military part of the reception, and escort the queen and her entourage to the Roumanian legation.

Despite the lateness of the hour, it is expected that historic Pennsylvania-av will be thronged with spectators to see the queen pass.

Secretary of State Kellogg and other attaches of the State Department will compose the official welcoming committee at the station.

The queen will be taken from the station direct to the legation. At 8 p. m. she will dine privately at the legation.

Tomorrow, the only full day the queen will have in the capital, will be a busy one. At 9:30 a. m. she will deposit a wreath on the tomb of the unknown soldier at Arlington. At 10:30, she will make the usual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon and lunch there.

Returning to the capital in the afternoon, the queen will pay a courtesy call upon the president and Mrs. Coolidge, who will return the call at the legation. At 7:45, she will dine at the White House in the great state dining room.

Early Wednesday morning, the queen and her party will motor to Annapolis to inspect the U. S. Naval Academy and from there go to Baltimore and catch a train for New York.

TROUBLE OVER WESTERN FARE

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 18—Will Queen Marie of Roumania visit California?

If she does, according to officials of the Southern Pacific and Santa Fe Railways, the special train on which she will tour the country will be assessed the customary rates.

In arranging for the transportation and tour of the queen, Samuel Hill, Seattle millionaire, made plans whereby three American roads were to carry the royal train across the continent at the rate of $1 per line. The railroads agreeing to this plan, it was learned, are the Baltimore & Ohio, the Union Pacific and the Great Northern, bringing the total fare of the queen's party to $3. Refusal of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe Railroads to handle the train at the nominal fee of $1 was thought to have more than a little to do with the royal party's "up in the air attitude" regarding the California visit.

SICILIAN IS SLAIN IN LATEST GANG MURDER

Four Notorious Gangsters Behind Bars of Cook County Jail

Chicago, Oct. 18—While authorities were investigating a new gang murder today, a quartet of famous gangsters whose names are high on the list of "who's who" in Chicago's beer and alcohol industry, were lolling in cells at the county jail.

They are: Vincent "Schemer" Drucci, partner of the late Earl Weiss, whose career was cut short by machine gun bullets; Vincent McErlane, brother of Frank McErlane, south side gang leader under arrest awaiting trial for murder; Julian "Potatoes" Kaufman and Harry Sorg, henchmen of the north side syndicate.

All four of the men were arrested over the week-end in Chief of Police Collins' drive to "round up all known gangsters."

The latest gang killing to engage the attention of police occurred early yesterday. A man believed to be John Lazo, a Sicilian, was "taken for a ride" shot to death and flung from the speeding auto.

ALLEGED CONFIDENCE MAN IS KILLED IN DETROIT

Detroit, Oct. 18—Police today identified a man shot and killed in a cigar store Saturday night as Earl Norris, alleged confidence man, of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

From cards found on Norris' person, police first believed the man to be H. E. Johnson, a Minneapolis attorney. According to word received from Minneapolis, Norris, the son of well-to-do parents residing near St. Paul, feared death at the hands of a former partner.

As we understand it, the elderly Mr. Browning Pikes "Peaches," but not when attached to the family tree.

Under the circumstances, it's mighty lucky for us that we didn't lend money to Germany, Austria and Turkey during the big war.

Nothing has been received from Europe to indicate that Earl Carroll is lugging a bathtub around with him in his travels over there.

We'll have to hand it to the Chicago gangsters for using machine guns when it would be as safe for them to sweep the streets of the Windy City with field.

A Cleveland woman is accused by her husband of conducting a love school for women. We bet that makes the flappers chuckle.

And not a single short-length skirt in all these fifty trunks. And right along they have been telling us that Marie is a woman of fine understanding! The situation is simply unbelievable!

The great cause of education has been given a terrific blow. One of the sand boxes at the Greenwood Street building was overturned Saturday night and its cover damaged.

Incidentally we guess we will have to pay tribute to the scientist who predicted unusual displays of Aurora Borealis as a result of the big sun spots. Anyway, he delivered the northern lights, no matter what their cause.

Simply because she is a movie star, we aren't going to assume that Connie Talmadge didn't have good ground for quitting her second guess. Who knows? He may be one of those people who "grab" their forks.

Henry Ford is said to like peach cider. Let us hope that "Uncle Henry" realizes that peach cider, when it arrives at its most effective stage, packs an awful kick.

One simply can't help but sympathize with Great Britain and France over the dire straits in which they find themselves. The former expended $1,500,000,000 last year for drink and the latter a somewhat smaller amount to maintain her armed forces.

Up to a late hour this afternoon, France had in no way implicated the United States in the disappearance of the French crown jewels, but doubtless she has her suspicions.

The work of the weather bureau in predicting the weather for a week ahead has been greatly simplified for the past five or six months. All it has had to say to make a succession of bull's-eyes is "occasional rains and temperature about normal."

Why Chicago has made of her State street the best-lighted thoroughfare in the world is hard to imagine. Weren't her gunmen and gangsters showing good-enough marksmanship as it was?

"How Soon We Forget."

Special effort is being made by Bird-McGinnis Post, No. 162, American Legion, to make the coming local celebration of Armistice day, November 11, a representative community event. The post has sent out letters to something like two score local lodges, clubs and other organizations, inviting them to take active part in the celebration of the event. No effort is to be spared by the post to make the celebration of the anniversary the success it should be, and while no hint or intimation of the kind has come to us from the post as a body or from any individual member thereof we feel safe in saying that the post membership probably realizes that it has its work cut out for it. It must so feel, having in mind past celebrations which could hardly be called representative of such a community spirit as should be shown.

"How soon we forget."

Go back in mind to that November 11 of eight years ago. It was not necessary then to make special effort, or any effort whatever, to arouse enthusiasm over the ending of the great struggle which rocked the world. The problem then, if problems there were, was to control it. True, time dims enthusiasm as it does all other things. We never anticipate seeing a demonstration such as that day swept the entire land, when every city, village and hamlet in the country went wild in its rejoicing. But we have a right to anticipate, as the anniversaries of that day come yearly seeing at least faint reflections of it. It should not be necessary for those who fought our battles for us to drum up participants in the celebration which they arrange in commemoration of the day.

"How soon we forget."

A Source of Many Ills.

It would be a very modest estimate to say that half the ills of this world come from improper foods and foods improperly prepared. If we err in this estimate, it is because it is too low rather than too high. And it is safe to say that the larger percentage of these ills comes from food improperly prepared.

We do not mean by ills, physical ills alone. Far from it. We mean mental ills and moral ills as well. Ills resulting from physical ills produced by poorly-prepared and improper foods. It is the very rare exception who can suffer from physical ills and yet be mentally and morally at the best. Scientists may hold to the contrary, but common sense and experience alike show this to be true. A man can not suffer in body and be at his best mentally, nor can he suffer physically and mentally without an effect upon his moral tissue as well.

There is an old saying to the effect that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach. This may be putting the proposition a little strong, but if a man's stomach is all right, if its action reflects the consumption of good and properly-prepared foods, he will feel better, show a better disposition, act better and actually be better. We hear and read a lot about the effect of mind on matter. We do not hear enough, or read enough, about the effect of matter on mind. We do not give enough thought to the effect of matter on the soul. The pages of what has been written on the subject of the evil effects of drinking intoxicants would many times girdle the earth, but the aggregate evil effects of drinking are not to be compared with the aggregate evil effects of eating poor and unwholesome foods, and especially of overeating poor and improperly-prepared foods. So few of us, comparatively, use intoxicants. All of us eat.

Unwholesome foods, whether the result of kind, quality or way of preparation, are responsible for more domestic unhappiness than any other cause. They have their effect alike upon husband and wife and all the members of the family. Good and wholesome foods stand for better health, for better working and thinking powers, for better and more contented men, women and children. They are reflected by every member of the family from its head to the babe in arms.

Every woman should know how to cook, even though she may not be called upon to do so. She should know how, that she may know when foods are correctly cooked. Every girl should know how to cook, even though she be that exceptional girl who does not contemplate marriage, at least as a possibility, and no girl has a right to marry until she does know how to cook. It wouldn't hurt the boys to know a bit about plain cooking, either. There is never any telling when such knowledge on the part of a boy or man may come in handy. It may be sickness in the family, or some other unforseen happening, which makes such knowledge valuable.

Thinking as we do on the subject of foods and the preparation of foods, we can not but feel that the cooking school to be held at the Star auditorium Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, beginning at 2 o'clock each afternoon, should prove of the highest value to the citizenship of Marion. It is to be conducted by Mrs. George O. Thurn, a nationally-known food expert, demonstrator and lecturer. She knows the value of foods as but comparatively few do, and she possesses positive genius in the manner of their preparation.

The Prussian diet has passed the bill which allots Homburg castle to the former kaiser and $3,600,000 and 167,000 acres of his former estate to the Hohenzollern family, from which we assume that it will be but a question of time till Wilhelm removes his wood-chopping activities to the land of his birth.

If the newspapers keep on telling about the $1,500,000 reaped annually by the 200 professional beggars of New York, some people are liable to begin to feel that they have selected the wrong profession.

Speaking about the killing of one assistant district attorney up in Chicago and the serious wounding of another, it is hardly probable that they were shot down merely because they were district attorneys. It's going to be hard to make anybody believe that.

CHICAGO MAY HAVE TO BUILD THAT SUBWAY YET

Pure Blood Depends on Habits.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

Whether it be a plant or a man, there can not be continued life without unfailing supplies of food, air and water. You can not have health and vigor without constant removal of the waste products of the body.

Nourishment and waste removal depend upon the fluids which are taken into the body and those which circulate through the body. The first of the circulating fluids is the blood. Of course this does not touch the tissues outside the blood vessels. No matter how tiny they are, or how much blood there is, it is confined within the blood vessels.

Besides the blood, there is another circulating fluid which is confined within definite channels. This is called the lymph. The lymphatic vessels empty their contents into the veins.

There is a third form of liquid which we call the tissue fluids. This watery substance fills spaces in the tissues and actually bathes the cells of the body. It is a fluid which is really in circulation because it is being replaced all the time by its exchanges with the blood.

By these circulating fluids the body is nourished and waste material is carried away. Food is put into solution and in this way it is made ready for absorption and use by the body. The circulating fluids carry it to every part of the body.

When the food elements are discharged, the circulating fluids are ready to take up the poisonous wastes. Through the kidneys, skin and intestinal tract this waste material is removed from the body.

The blood furnishes five or six per cent. of the body weight. That is, if you weigh 150 pounds, you have about eight or nine pounds of blood. That is about a gallon.

There have been many estimates of the quality of blood. We used to be taught that the average man has twelve or fifteen pounds, but recent chemical tests have established the smaller quantity as more likely to be correct.

We speak of the blood as a "fluid," as if it were like water. Of course it isn't. The liquid portion is watery, but even this is not devoid of certain contained elements. It is capable of dissolving and does dissolve a variety of substances.

Floating in the blood stream are two kinds of blood cells or corpuscles, the red and white. They are tiny things. It would take two or three thousand of them, placed edge to edge, to cover an inch of space and a million or more, piled on top of each other, to make a pile an inch high.

To have "pure" blood there must be right living. Good food, plenty of sleep and fresh air, an abundance of sunlight, sufficient exercise to stimulate the heart's action, lots of pure water to drink—all these are essential to purity of the blood.

Don't depend on "tonics" and "blood purifiers." Your doctor may decide you need some sort of medicine if you are sick. But if you are free from disease, you may be vigorous and strong if you enrich your blood by right living. Your daily habits have everything to do with your health.

If you keep the circulating fluids of your body in good condition, you will be well and happy.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. S. Q—What causes a temperature to be subnormal? Is a temperature of 96-97 unusual when one is very tired or has a headache?

A—Low blood pressure is one cause. A temperature of 96-97 should be no cause for anxiety. Have your doctor advise you more definitely after examination.

M. M. B. Q—What would cause black and blue spots to appear on all parts of the body?

2—What causes perspiring feet even in the coldest weather?

A—May be due to a condition called purpura. See your doctor.

2—For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. Some of the trouble may be due to nervousness.

D. D. Q—Is there anything that will make the scars left by boils less noticeable? What will cure boils and what causes them?

A. Scars may be made less noticeable by the use of the X-ray in some instances. See a doctor. Boils are due to some infection in the system. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question. — Copyright, 1926.

THE STARS SERENE.

High o'er my head last night the stars serene
In velvet distance sailed their blue domain
The country byways wound through fields of green,
The growing corn rested beneath the rain.
A cricket, calling by the wayside broke
The sylvan stillness, and a nightingale
Perched on a towering chestnut softly woke
The quiet revery of the slumbering vale.
It was a night of beauty and of rest.
And, oh! how nature made her strong appeal
That we should find more often in our breast
The will to know, the sympathy to feel
The noble beauty of her simple law
Transforming sunbeams and the summer dew
Into the golden harvest whence we draw
Our life, our blood, our sustenance and thew—
That our own lives might even yet be free
From tinsel triumphs and the teeming spell
Of jungled cities, with their sensual glee
Of gilded pathways leading straight to hell.

Are They Licensed Murderers?

[Chicago News]

This is not exactly the age of innocence. Consequently the Chicago public, peering through the red mist of a long succession of savage murders of beer-runners and their allies, discerns—dimly, perhaps—the hateful shape of official tolerance.

It is, of course, incredible that little gangs of savage lawbreakers should find themselves free to go on killing one another as an incident to amassing wealth through traffic in booze and commercialized vice, if they were not able to command protection in high quarters. Indeed, confessions of men who have participated in the carefully devised system of cheating the law through the continuous purchase of guardians of the law have made clear to some honest public officials precisely how the system works and who are the beneficiaries of the system.

The machine-gunning of McSwiggin and his beer-running companions, the machine-gunning of Attorney O'Brien and his beer-running companions, together with other bloody, but perhaps less revealing incidents of the local war, are so many demonstrations by rival leaders of Chicago gungdom that they are determined to maintain their right to the enjoyment of the privileges they have bought. The high cost of official protection adds venom to the bursts of machine-gun bullets by which carefully marked victims are struck down in city streets. When any of the few detected killers are put on trial for their crimes the efforts to corrupt justice are transferred to the courts. Witness the list of jurors in a pending murder case found in the pocket of a notorious beer-runner when he was shot down the other day in a rain of bullets that also scarred the walls of the great cathedral beside which he fell.

It is significant that a few operatives, working under the direction of federal authorities, have uncovered within a relatively brief period far more important evidence than the police, the sheriff and the state's attorney have shown indications of knowing in the years of chronic frustration to which they make confession. Indeed, it almost seems as if certain local law-enforcement offices were in a state of contemptuous siege by arrogant gangs that fear them not at all.

Citizens of Chicago have almost ceased to wonder why great local law-enforcing agencies are so tame in the face of the murder gangs that roam the city, killing as they go. The reason for their tameness is showing more and more plainly through the red mist of murder.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

Theories of psychologists and psychoanalysts may be absurd. They are at least interesting. Speaking at the International Sex Biologic congress in Berlin, Bermeleen, of Holland, says war is founded upon the love impulse. According to this expert all the trappings of war—its uniforms, martial music, fame, chivalry toward the enemy, carelessness in battle, blind fury and death—all come from the driving force of masculine love.

That is an interesting theory, good for scholars and laboratory workers. Practically, the job of mankind is to divert the "killing impulses" into channels of production and usefulness.

A close friend of Mussolini says the dictator does not want to be king of Italy. He is supreme now. He does not want a crown. According to this friend, Mussolini is completely interested in doing a big piece of work for his people—unifying Italy—and making a government that works. If that is true, Mussolini is even smarter than he has been given credit for being. The really big things of this world are done by men and women—whatever their jobs—who forget their own glory and sink themselves in their work. They are simply the unselfish, unimpeded mediums for great movements.

Have you any bees to send to Maine? Maine's apple crop is not more than one-third normal—partly due to the scarcity of bees. There is a lack of pollenation, state horticulturist says. There must be more bees if there are to be more apples. Do you remember that verse in a great and popular book which says that all things work together for good?

The flapper has come to stay. Well and good. No less a person than Dr. W. M. Marriott, head of the St. Louis Children's hospital, says the flapper type will make a better mother than the woman of the hoopskirt age. The modern girl is healthier, athletic. She has the advantage of frank education along lines which were prudishly denied her grandmother.

Children are the greatest gainers by modern science and improved medical practice. The infant death rate in certain large American cities has been cut from 200 to every thousand babies born, to sixty for every thousand.

Death rate among the folks over forty is not being cut. Heart disease and nervous disorders are on the increase, because of the killing pace of modern life. And it is not the pace of hard work so much as the pace of play—the pace of the things made possible by too much luxury.

Who's Who and Why.

HIRAM BINGHAM.

Hiram Bingham, governor of Connecticut for a single day before he resigned to succeed the late Frank Brandegee in the United States senate, is making a spirited campaign to keep his seat.

A descendant of Deacon Thomas Bingham, who came to America and settled in Connecticut about 1650. His father was a pioneer missionary in the Gilbert islands. Senator Bingham was born in Honolulu, Hawaiian islands, November 19, 1875, was graduated from Yale university in 1898 and for eight months following was superintendent of the Palama mission chapel in Honolulu. Later in turning to business, he served as chemist in the American Sugar Refining company in Hawaii.

Returning to his studies, he took a degree as Master of Arts at the University of California in 1901 and the following year received the same degree at Harvard; following which, until 1901, he occupied the chair of history at that institution. In 1905, after receiving his Ph. D. degree at Harvard, he became preceptor in history and politics at Princeton.

In 1906, the wanderlust seized him and he began his career as an explorer. He undertook an overland journey from Venezuela to Columbia, South America, and on his return in 1907 lectured on South American affairs at Yale university for a year. He was a delegate to the first Pan-American scientific conference at Santiago de Chile in 1908, after which he explored the old Spanish trade route from Buenos Aires to Lima in South America, following this with lectures on history in 1910 at Johns Hopkins university and later at Yale.

He was director of the Yale peruvian expedition which, in 1911 made the first ascent of Mt. Coropuna, one of the highest peaks of the Andes, discovered the last capitol of the Incas and made considerable alteration in the map of central Peru. This was followed by other explorations until in 1915 he became professor of Latin-American history at Yale.

When the World war began, Bingham, though beyond the age of active service, was placed in charge of the United States schools of military aeronautics, which laid the basis for the American air service. Later in 1917, he became chief of the air personnel in Washington, systematized this department and then requested his transfer to France. In March, 1918, this request was granted and he went to Issoudun, France, to take charge of the aviation instruction center.

Entering politics in 1922, he was elected lieutenant governor of Connecticut and in 1924 was elected governor. He occupied that post but a day, resigning to fill the unexpired term of the late Senator Brandegee. He was a member of the air board which recently made a special study of aviation problems for President Coolidge, and resulted in the creation in three government departments of assistant secretaries for aviation.

He is a member of many scientific societies and has written many pamphlets. He was decorated by the French government in 1919 for his aviation services during the war.

Senator Bingham is married, his wife being the former Alfreda Mitchell of New London, Connecticut, and has seven sons.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Oct. 18—Diary of a modern hippo. Up to breakfast at a club and someone tried to explain to a group how red-headed men with freckles had a certain crisp expression and became involved and into such deep water that I felt foolish all this day.

Then with Verne Porter to see a man who trains cockatoos for a vaudeville act and a learned fellow he was for such strange callings. Home and went through a trunk, in storage for five years, yet there was nothing I wanted to throw away.

In the evening to a theatrical opening but the play dragged so because of friends of players there to applaud that I did not enjoy it at all. It came on to rain after the final curtain, but Peggy Hoyt and her mother took us in her limousine. So to bed.

The song and dance man is the supreme romanticist of the two-a-day. It is proverbial that his high ambition is encompassed in the desire to play the Palace. He is the victim of hereditary actorism which demands centre stage.

Most of us think of him in terms of baggy caps, belled coats and bamboo canes "playin' 'em out in the aisles in Altoona" or "getting belly laughs in Portland." Off stage he is shy and elusive. He does not move in circles outside his world and song-and-dance teams rarely split.

In theatrical boarding-houses he is considered a nuisance because of his custom of rehearsing new steps in the halls. Even to his guild he is known as a hoofer. And yet the song and dance man is today playing some of the topmost roles in the American theater.

George M. Cohan is a song and dance man and proud of it. So is George White. One of the most beloved figures of the stage—George Primrose—was a song-and-dance man. Jim Barton and Jack Donahue, song-and-dance men, are stars. So are scores of others.

The old Park Avenue hotel is in hands of insatiable wreckers and another familiar landmark fades. It was built around a fountain splashing patio by the late A. T. Stewart and for many years to dine in the garden or on the balconies was as much a part of a visitor's duty as seeing Grant's tomb. It has stood longer than most hotels of another generation. Prohibition ended the famous mid-town luncheon club, composed of buyers chiefly. And slowly the former grandeur and gaiety began to fade. Prim and knitting ladies dotted the lobby. Until the last it clung to white-haired darkies who manipulated rope pulling elevators. Clerks rang bells and cried "Front" and there was a potato near the register for unused pens. It is the last of the hostelries to flourish in the early Nineties.

The newer the hotel these days, the smaller the lobby—now the foyer. There are no seats for loungers and this heightens the atmosphere of exclusiveness. Patrons of the new smart hotels are supposed to visit the foyer only when registering. After that they come and go at side carriage entrances. — Copyright, 1926.

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

There's something wrong somehow about these husband-and-wife stories that people are always telling me. In the stories the husband and the wife are generally saying wise cracks at one another, and the wife is always getting the best of the old man in the argument. Now, I don't think it's that way in real life. Most husbands can shout louder than wives, and it's the loud answer that turneth away the comeback. Leastways, that's what I've observed.

Well, some fellow told me a story where the husband gets in the wise stinger at the end, and while it ain't much of a story, it leaves a good taste for the men, so here goes.

This here woman was different from most women, because she was jawing all the time. When she got real good and mad at her husband she told him: "Don't you dare to speak to me for a year!"

So this here poor fellow kinda thinks it over, and then he says, "All right, Martha, if you really think you can get it all said in a year, I'll be tickled to keep my mouth shut and listen just that long, so's maybe I can mention some of my own opinions about this affair for a couple of minutes, maybe."

And at that, I reckon they wasn't very mad, since the story don't say nothing about anybody's head getting broke.—Copyright, 1926.

Mrs. Geo. O. Thurn

LECTURER AND DEMONSTRATOR

Only on rare occasions do women have the opportunity to hear from a truly authoritative source the real facts about food preparation and see an expert in the culinary art at her work over the stove and bake oven.

Mrs. George O. Thurn has made the science of cooking and baking her life's work. She has studied cooking under all conditions, from that of preparing diets for the sick and convalescent to that of the most elaborate banquet menus.

To see her at her work and to note the apparent ease in which seemingly difficult problems are met and overcome is in itself a rare treat. From the making of a tiny wafer to that of turning out a huge meat roast ready to serve she does her work with the ease of a child at play.

Bring along a pad and a pencil. There will be many things to see and many things you will want to remember. Prepare your questions in advance; there will be a question box or they may be asked orally.

NURSERY

"Help Us Move"!

How I make good pies every time

For a medium size pie I use 2½ cups flour, ¾ cup Crisco, 1 teaspoon salt. To measure ¾ of a cup of Crisco I take a measuring cup, put in ¼ cup of cold water, then add enough Crisco to bring the water to the top of the cup, pour it off and I have an exact ¾ cup of Crisco. Then I cut the Crisco into the flour with two knives, criss-cross fashion. (If I used my fingers the heat from them would soften the Crisco and blend it with the flour too closely to make a flaky crust.) As the Crisco is cut into small particles each one becomes covered with flour, and when enough cold water is added (4 to 6 tablespoons) the dough will then be composed of these small particles, which when rolled become layers of flour and Crisco. Then if baking is started in a very hot oven to set mixture before the Crisco has time to melt, the result will be a tender, flaky pastry.

Chocolate Meringue Pie

Make the pastry with Crisco and your pie shell will slip off the outside of the plate into the inside without breaking, and be tender and flaky, too.

Cover an inverted pie plate with pastry; turn back the edges to make it firm. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes. Then fill with Chocolate Cream made as follows:

2 squares from ½ lb. cake of chocolate	3 egg yolks
¼ cup corn starch	¾ cup sugar
2 cups milk	1 tablespoon vanilla
	1 teaspoon Crisco

Melt chocolate in double boiler. Blend sugar, salt and corn starch. Add milk. Cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add beaten egg yolks, melted chocolate and Crisco. Continue cooking a minute or two. Pour into the baked shell, cover with meringue made by beating the 3 egg whites until stiff and dry, and add 6 tablespoons granulated sugar. Return to slow oven (300° F.) for 15 minutes or until brown. Serve when thoroughly cold. Makes one medium sized pie.

Crisco

Be careful about water

Have the water cold and use only enough to make a paste which will easily clear the bowl and is soft enough so it will not break at the edges when rolled. It is easier to tell when you have just the right amount of water if you use your fingers to mix it. Now take half the dough, dust the board with flour, using as little as possible, and roll the pastry very lightly from the center outward, each motion of the rolling pin ending in the air, not on the board. It should be about an eighth of an inch thick. Fold it over one-half, lay over a Criscoed plate, fold back over the plate, smooth into shape with the fingers and trim the edges.

To prevent the filling from soaking into the bottom crust

Brush it over with melted Crisco, dust a little flour over that, then add the filling prepared according to the recipe you are using. Moisten the edge with water, then roll the other half of the dough, fold it over one-half, make slits with a knife in the center of the fold for steam to escape. Lay over the pie, with the fold in the center, turn back to cover it, press edges together with thumb and finger, trim, then press together again.

Deep Dish Apple Pie

Serve in dishes they are baked in. Or when they are baked, turn them upside down on plates, cover with sweetened whipped cream, sprinkle with chopped nuts and call them Apple Crow's Nest.

Prepare 5 cups of sliced apples, then mix in 1 cup of sugar, ½ teaspoon cinnamon. Divide into 4 or 5 individual baking dishes. Add ½ teaspoon salt to each. Dot with bits of Crisco. Cover with the pastry, making slits in the center for steam to escape. Bake in hot oven (450° F.) until pastry starts to brown. Then reduce heat to moderate (350° F.) until apples are done. (About one-half hour.)

An Astonishing Blindfold Test

SEE if this doesn't give you the greatest surprise of your whole cooking experience!

Put a little Crisco on the tip of one spoon. On the tip of another place a little of the fat you are now using; have someone blindfold you, and give you first one, then the other fat to taste.

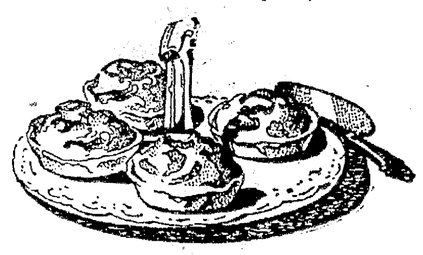

Now, did you ever imagine there could be such a striking difference in the taste of raw cooking fats? Think what a difference Crisco's sweetness and freshness will make in your own cakes, pies, biscuits and fried foods.

To keep the juice in

Take a strip of plain cloth about three inches wide, wet it in cold water and put around the edge of the plate, letting one half lie on top of the edge of the pie crust and the other half just under the pie plate. Have the strip long enough so that the ends will lap over each other two or three inches. For very juicy fillings, make a little funnel of paper or take pieces of macaroni and stick into two or three of the slits you have made. The juices will bubble up into these and return to the pie as it cools.

When pie is partly cool remove cloth and funnels.

When juices run out they will burn on the bottom of the oven, causing a smudge which is likely to add a smoky taste to the pie and leaving the oven hard to clean.

Butterscotch Tartlets

Use Crisco in making the pastry for these tarts and the tender, flaky crust, blended with the delicious filling and fluffy meringue will fairly melt in your mouth.

Take bits of dough about the size of an egg. Roll; cover the bottom of inverted muffin pans which have been greased with Crisco. Prick well with a fork to prevent bubbles. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) about 15 minutes. When baked, slip shells off, turn pan over and put in a muffin tin. Fill with the following Butterscotch filling:

1 cup brown sugar	1 cup milk
3 tablespoons flour	3 tablespoons water
2 egg yolks	1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon Crisco	½ teaspoon salt

Mix sugar, salt and flour. Add water. Cool until thick, stirring constantly. Just before removing from stove, stir in beaten egg. Add Crisco and vanilla. Cool slightly and fill the tart shells. Cover with a meringue made by beating 2 egg whites stiff and dry; add 2 tablespoons granulated sugar; cover tarts, return to slow oven (300° F.) for 15 minutes or until brown. This amount will fill 12 tarts

HIGHER THAN THE WOOLWORTH TOWER

The Woolworth Building in New York City, which towers 792 feet above the street, is the highest building in the United States.

If all the bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound sold in 1925 could be placed end to end, they would make a column as high as the Woolworth Building. And there would be enough left over to extend from Lynn, Massachusetts to Cleveland, O.

In every little village as in every thriving city along the route, there are enthusiastic women who are glad to tell others how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them.—Adv.

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

ROBERTA met him at the door with anxious inquiries.

"I told you to go to bed," he said.

"I know—but I couldn't. What happened?"

"Nothing except that those blamed dogs raised the deuce of a row before I got anywhere near the fence."

She dropped dejectedly into a chair. "I don't believe we can do it. She's too well guarded. It's all been for nothing."

"Rats! You're tired out. What you need is sleep and plenty of it. Lots of people have escaped from a darn sight tighter places than Birchwood, all by themselves. And with us to help—"

"But she doesn't know we're here."

"She will. I started something tonight."

"What? How?"

"From the top of the hill. Listen." Twinkling, he whistled the hopeful refrain and Roberta smiled with her memory of the words. Then she sighed and shook her head.

"Clever, Peter; but I'm afraid she won't understand."

"She will, if I do it every night. She's bound to catch the idea in time, if we don't get her some other way first. The only trouble is that somebody else might catch it, too. Still, we have to take some chances. You haven't thought of anything she'd recognize you by, have you?"

"Nothing that would do any good. We did have a secret alphabet when she was about twelve, and used to write each other notes in it."

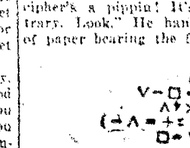

"Bully!"

"We used to read it like print, but I'm not sure I could remember it now, and probably she's forgotten it, too. Besides, we couldn't get a note to her."

"We might. You never can tell. Let's write one or two, anyhow, so we'll be ready if the chance comes."

Not having provided themselves with stationery, he brought her some wrapping paper from the kitchen and bade her write down her alphabet while he changed into dry clothing, forgetting in the zest of the game his adjurations regarding her rest.

At first she could remember only that she had originally evolved a code from algebraic characters, supplemented by similar arbitrary signs culled from the back pages of a dictionary, and that the symbol of equality had been used to separate the words. But by the time Piggy came downstairs again, arrayed in the habiliments of his normal station in life, she had recalled most of it, and impelled by his urgency, finally filled in the remaining letters. Looking over her shoulder, this is what he saw:

"Three cheers!" He reached into his pocket for a notebook.

"What good will that do you?" she asked as he began copying the characters.

"Dunno. Might come in handy. Now let's write her some notes. If one doesn't get through, another may. Better use torn bits of this brown paper, so if anybody else finds 'em they'll look like scraps of something. You write: 'Here waiting chance. Listen for whistle. Show light.' I'll write 'Night whistle signal. Answer with light.' Sign 'em both R." After experimenting a little he added: "That sign between the words is a give-away. Show it's a code. Better split 'em up into several lines. I'll show you."

Having written his message, he looked at it, grinning. "It will take some thinking to decode that. 'Golly! this cipher's a pippin! It's so darn arbitrary. Look." He handed her a scrap of paper bearing the following legend:

"That'll keep G. A. guessing awhile," Roberta laughed. "It does look cryptic. If only she remembers it—and if we can get it to her!"

"Sure we'll get it to her."

He placed the notes carefully in his bill-fold, and considerably after midnight, cheered by his confidence, Roberta went to bed and to sleep.

The next morning, wincing from his lame muscles, Piggy visited the village store in a heavy downpour, to make inquiries about obtaining an automobile license. He learned that application should be made to the sheriff at the lower village, officially entitled Fitzwilliam Depot, a smaller settlement hugging the railway tracks—Fitzwilliam proper, like many New England hamlets, being situated at some distance from the station. When he returned to the house for the car he said to Roberta, with a chuckle:

"We've got to watch our step. They asked me at the store who was sick over here."

"Sick? Why?"

"Some woman looked out last night and saw a light in this house as late as twelve o'clock, and it's all over the village. They thought somebody must be dying. I told 'em you suffered from insomnia and sometimes sat up all night reading, but it's a good tip. When things begin to pop, we'll douse the lights. I may drive over to Keene after I see about this license, and scout around a little. Perhaps I'll meet up with my friend Cody. Back when I get here."

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Father

MY father kissed the hand I had put against his lips to silence his remorseful reference to the sin against my mother and me, which he never allowed himself to forget. I knew that the remembrance of it had saddened all his years, and my heart ached with compassion for him as he took my hand away, keeping it tenderly clasped in his own, as he answered my protest.

"Always the best of daughters," he said fondly. "You make it very easy for me to say what is in my heart, what I never have mentioned to you before, what I should not say now—except that I ——"

He broke off abruptly, and I wondered miserably what was the rest of that unfinished sentence. A sequence of words flashed themselves into my brain.

"I may never have the opportunity again." Were those the words he would not utter? The possibility dulled my perceptions so that at first I did not comprehend, although I heard, the startling question he asked me.

But after a few dazed seconds I awakened to the echo of that question still trembling in the air:

"Are you happy with Richard, Madge?"

Madge sheds all pretense

The conjunction of this question with the one I had parried but a few minutes before was to significant for me to ignore. I almost the same breath as the query concerning my happiness with my husband, my father had heard me just how glad I would be to see Hugh Grantland. It was with a throat so constricted by excitement as to be almost incapable of speech that I finally gave my halting answer.

"Honestly, father, I do not know. I suppose I am as happy as the average wife."

The deep sigh he drew told me that he was grieved at my answer, even though I also knew that he was not surprised at it. The seconds which I mentally counted off before he answered were like hours to me.

Then he put another searching question.

"If I had asked you that question a year ago, would you have given the same answer?

"Ah! I feared so!"

"No, I would not," I returned promptly, with a panicky little wonder as to where this catechism would end. "Then forgive me for asking, is this lessening of your happiness due to a change in your husband's attitude or your own?"

The question was like a searchlight turned into the secret recesses of my heart, into which I myself had not dared to look. While minutes slipped into eternity I sat motionless while my whole life with my husband revelved in kaleidoscopic memory before me. Then I answered my father's question with more honesty than I would have given to heart-searching query of my own at any previous time.

"To both, I am afraid, father dear."

Again I heard his disappointed sigh followed by a low soliloquizing murmur. "Ah! I feared so!" Then he put the question for which his previous reference to Hugh Grantland had prepared me:

"Has jealousy of Hugh anything to do with Richard's cavalier treatment of you?"

"No; I do not think so," I answered, voicing my honest belief.

"Are you sure of that?" my father countered quickly. "You surely must know that Hugh has loved you hopelessly for years. Might not Richard have guessed that you return that love?"

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous and glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.—Adv.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

Mother! It's Cruel to "Physic" Your Child

To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated infants and children had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

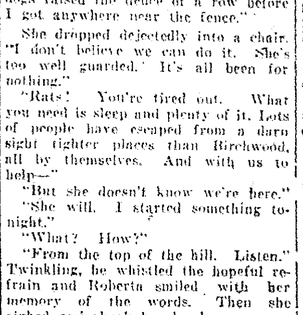

While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all children's little ills, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even if the child is chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only becomes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens or upsets the most delicate system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.

Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine or write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, for a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE and just see for yourself.

Folders With Arguments for and Against Proposed Primary Change Sent Here

Explanatory Pamphlets May Be Obtained by Voters at Marion County Board of Elections Office; Both Sides of Question Thoroughly Discussed by State Leaders

Arguments for and against the proposed amendment to Ohio's primary law, which will be voted upon in the November election, are presented in copies of a folder prepared at the office of Secretary of State Thad H. Brown in Columbus and distributed to Board of Election throughout Ohio. Several thousand of the folders were received Saturday by the Marion County board and may now be obtained by voters at election headquarters on E. Center st.

On one side of the folder appears a copy of the primary amendment ballot to be presented to electors on Nov. 2 and on the opposite side is the text of the proposed amendment and arguments on both sides of the question.

The argument against the proposal was prepared by Charles L. Knight, H. R. Timkin, Louis H. Brush, Robert A. Taft and Harry L. Davis, while the other side is presented by John S. Edwards, J. H. T. Gordon and Allen C. McDonald. The folder was prepared and distributed in accordance with provisions of the law relating to state initiative and referendum proposals.

Arguments For

The argument in favor of adoption of the amendment as follows:

"This proposed amendment to the constitution does not abolish the primary. It modifies it so that conventions may be held, provided delegates are elected at primaries. This is mandatory. No legislature could provide for conventions, the delegates to which are otherwise selected.

"The primary system has made it impossible for a poor man to be a candidate for state office unless his campaign is financed by others, which is highly dangerous to the public interest. Eventually it must result in corruption and scandal.

"The primary has not resulted in a rule of the people. Few voters are cast at the primary. Therefore the politicians of a few big cities can get together and nominate a state ticket, as an unbroken line of experience has demonstrated.

"The primary has destroyed party responsibility. Under it there is no chance for party leaders to get together and consider the duties, responsibilities and opportunities of the party. The people no longer write platforms. This is done by candidates who are thinking more of their own success than of party welfare. Consequently platforms no longer represent principles in which the public is interested, but compromises and evasions of candidates.

"Under the primary, campaigns have grown continuous. No man worthy of high office will spend money or devote the time now necessary to make a campaign. Consequently able men of affair will no longer seek office. This assures a large field of unknown candidates for whom the rank and file vote at random.

"The cost of the primary is one of the real burdens of the taxpayers. It has cost as high as $14 a vote in some localities and the general average will be in excess of a dollar for every vote cast in the state."

Arguments Against

The committee chosen to argue against the amendment presents the following:

"The Constitution of Ohio provides that nominations for elective officers shall be made at direct primary elections, except as such as may be authorized by petition. This constitutional provision should be retained because:

"1st. Of the right given to every individual voter of the state to participate in the election of public officials.

"2nd. The 'Right of Suffrage' is one of the fundamental and basic principles of democracy. No legislative act should jeopardize this right.

"3rd. This proposed amendment would surrender a constitutional right for a legislative enactment. The former is fixed, definite and certain, the latter, variable, vague and uncertain and subject to frequent change.

"The proposed amendment should not be adopted because:

"1st. It would virtually nullify the primary election system of Ohio. The nomination for United States Senator and every state, district, county, township and municipal office would be subject to legislative contention. So far as these officers are concerned the primary would be abolished. It would remain in form only as a means of choosing delegates to political conventions.

"2nd. It in no way decreases the cost of the present primary system. The choosing of delegates to political conventions would necessitate the same election machinery and expense as is now required for all primary purposes.

"3rd. Unless the candidate for public office depended upon the county political organization, his expense in running for district or state office would be vastly increased. Instead of making a direct, personal campaign, he would be compelled to sponsor a slate of delegates who would represent him on the ballot in the several counties of the district or state.

"4th. The men and women elected under the primary system, with a few exceptions, have been able, courageous and efficient public servants and compare most favorably with those selected under the convention plan."

Pineville, Ky., Oct. 18—City authorities here today were bending every effort to locate the slayer or slayers of Police Chief Robert Woolum, who was shot to death here early yesterday morning.

Chief Woolum, bleeding from three wounds, died before he could tell William Davis, taxi driver, and the first person to reach his side, his assailant's name.

Woolum, who had been chief for slightly more than a month, was voted that office at a meeting of the city council which was featured by the presence of masked members of the Ku Klux Klan. He was said to be a popular officer and no motive for the crime had been uncovered early today.

SEPARATION OF 40 YEARS ENDED

Kenton, Oct. 18—Separated for more than 40 years, two brothers were again reunited during the past week in Belle Center, south of here.

They were Dr. R. W. Phillips of Vinton, Iowa, and Dr. W. S. Phillips of Belle Center.

Early in life the two men, just entering into manhood, left their home in the southeastern part of the state to seek their livelihood abroad. Both studied medicine as a profession and in the years that followed were successful.

Bereaved by the death of his wife recently, Dr. Phillips left his home in Iowa and came eastward seeking his brother and to visit the scenes of his boyhood. The reunion here was one of happiness.

Adding to the pleasure of the meeting was a visit from Dr. H. E. Phillips, nephew of the brothers, who is in charge of the Y. M. C. A. in Cairo, Egypt.

IBERIA BALL NINE BEATS JOHNSVILLE

Third And Deciding Game of Series Played On Fairgrounds

Iberia, Oct. 18—Iberia met Johnsville for the third time this season, Friday, and wrested a victory from them 7-3. Two weeks ago Johnsville's nine journeyed to Iberia and were defeated 19-0 at the end of the fourth inning, when the game was called off because of the rain. A week ago the local team lost to Johnsville 11-6 at Johnsville. The final game of the series was played this Friday at the Morrow County Fair Grounds, Mt. Gilead. Both teams did good playing, but Burgraf, Iberia, outpitched Baughman, Johnsville. Dairy's exceptional fielding was outstanding, while McClurg was consistently cool at the bat, bringing in three runs out of five hits. Shafer was the outstanding player for Johnsville.

KANSAS RECOVERING FROM WORST FLOOD

With flood waters that inundated wide areas of Kansas and Oklahoma gradually receding and the stricken cities under martial law, many of those driven from their homes are returning and clearing up the wreckage, left by the flood. The floods were the worst in the history of the district and thousands were driven out. Property damage was heavy. Photos show a birdseye view of the flooded area from airplane and some of the flooded homes.

Former Galion Girl Wins Laurels With Singing; Enters Tri-State Contest

Galion, Oct. 18—Mrs. Virginia Klopp Besse, gifted young soprano of Summit, O., and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Klopp, former Galion residents, has been winning laurels for herself in her chosen field of musical work. Although but twenty years of age, Mrs. Besse has appeared on many programs of note and has been highly praised by musical critics, who have heard her sing.

She is soprano soloist in the First Congregational Church of Columbus, and recently won a scholarship in that city, outclassing the many other contestants.

Last week she entered the state competitions at Cleveland and there repeated and surpassed her former performances, again winning first place as the most talented vocalist in the entire Buckeye state. The judges were some of the most noted Ohio voice teachers and directors of musical conservatories. All were enthusiastic over the young singer's clear tones and powerful voice and predict great success for her in the future.

Winning gives her the privilege of competing in the tri-state contest at Toledo next week and if there successful will be sent to the national contest in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Besse is one of the youngest members ever to be elected to the Columbus Music Club and will appear in their first musical at the Elks' Club Tuesday.

The youthful artist is well known to Galion audiences, appearing here in a recital with Edwin Arthur Kraft, organist of Cleveland, when the Galion High School pipe organ was formally dedicated and on several other occasions.

She is a niece of E. F. Klopp, prominent Galion business man, and has many friends in the city who wish her continued success.

GALION STUDENTS COLLECT 12 TONS OF WASTE PAPER

Galion, Oct. 18—Students of Galion Junior High School are working hard to raise money to equip the school library with good reference books and to furnish supplementary readers for the grades.

The first scheme attempted was that of having a paper sale and all students even the tiny first and second graders came with heavy loads of paper and magazines. Some of the "collegiate flivvers" were used to gather up bundles that were too heavy to carry.

When the papers were weighed the school had 21,390 pounds to its credit for which the local dealers paid $146.63.

Prizes were awarded to individuals and to classes for turning in the most paper.

Katherine McGaughy won the individual prize for accumulating 300 pounds and Miss Homer's sixth grade were class winners bringing 4,650 pounds.

MT. GILEAD HIGH TO HOLD CORN SHOW IN NOV.

Agricultural Society Arranging for Annual Affair; Borer Demonstration Planned

Mt. Gilead, Oct. 18—Plans are being made to hold the annual corn show, in connection with the junior corn and grain show and festival in the High school auditorium some time in November. In connection with the show, a corn borer demonstration will be given by a representative from the U. S. Department of Agriculture and as soon as a date can be arranged with the department, announcement will be made.

The show is put on annually under the auspices of the Agricultural Society of Mt. Gilead High school and under the direction of C. G. Gray, vocational agriculture teacher in the school, with the assistance of U. F. Bruning, county agricultural agent.

Four distinct shows are being planned: A junior corn show, open to the boys of the community; a home economics show, under the direction of Lois Doolittle, teacher of home economics in the high school, featuring sewing, cooking, baking, canning, etc.; an open corn and grain show, open to all farmers in Morrow county, in which all kinds of grain and vegetables will be entered and a poultry show, open to the boys.

Plans are being made to raise the money to offer prizes for the winners in each class.

These shows have been staged for several years and have stimulated a great amount of interest in the raising of high quality grain and poultry, not only among the boys of the high school and community, but among the farmers of the county as well. The affair last year was largely attended. It is expected that the entries this year, with a larger premium list and added interest, will greatly exceed that of last year.

DELEGATION TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMISSION

Civic Groups, Clubs, Join Kenton Council in Gas Rate Contention

Kenton, Oct. 18—A large delegation of citizens representing civic groups and women's clubs will go to Columbus Tuesday to add protest to that made by the Kenton City council with the Ohio Public Utilities Commission against the granting of increased gas rates here to the West Ohio Gas company of Lima.

The hearing of the city's protest is scheduled to come before the state body Tuesday.

Supporting the council's stand against the new increased rates on the grounds that they are exorbitant and unjustifiable, the Chamber of Commerce, Kiwanis Club, Business Women's Club, Federated Women's clubs and other groups passed resolutions during the past week opposing the new rate. These were forwarded to the utility commission.

Each group also named delegates to appear before the commission and present their reasons for the protest.

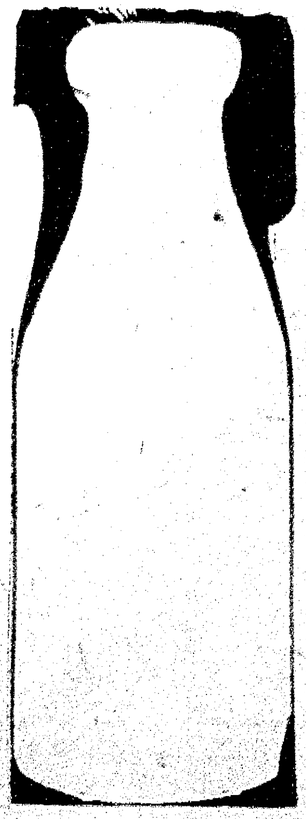

Loucks R. Brown, city solicitor, will direct the city's protest fight and will in all probability be assisted by other legal advisers of the city.

The new rate of the Lima company fixes a minimum charge of $1.25 for the first 400 cubic feet of gas used per month with a sliding scale downward for gas used in excess of this amount. The schedule is to replace the present flat rate of $1.07 per thousand cubic feet fixed by the state commission less than a year ago.

Harding Loses Second League Game to Ashland, 20 to 7

W. Merchant Scores Only Touchdown for Marion by Thrilling 60 Yard Dash

Johnson and Moor Score for Winners as Result of Fast Play Which Baffles Red and Black; McDowell Ties Bucyrus for Second Place

BY CHARLES HARRISON

HARDING HIGH lost. In fact, it didn't have much chance with J. A. McDowell High's eleven from Ashland leading 20 to 7. The North Central Ohio Scholastic League contest, Marion's second, was witnessed by an unusually large crowd which braved the light mist just to see Ashland score enough to upset the dope bucket.

As a result of Saturday's victory over Harding High, Ashland is tied with Bucyrus for second place in the league standing. Each team has won and lost one league game. Bucyrus did not play Saturday.

Shelby won its first league game, 26 to 0, from Delaware Saturday at Shelby and is tied with Mansfield's team which has two league victories over Bucyrus, 10-7, and Galion, 22-0.

Coach Harry J Burnhart's men tallied in the first period when Paul Beany Johnson, left half, broke away and ran 47 yards for touchdown. Fouts kicked goal giving the Orange and Black a 7 point lead, only two and one half minutes after the starting whistle was sounded. Now, that speed only partially indicates the action of the winners. They didn't wait for anything. They hardly waited long enough to permit the Red and Black to see what they were doing.

W. Merchant Scores

At the start of the second half W. Merchant, right half, completed a pass from Captain Born and tore off 60 yards through the entire Ashland team for a touchdown. McAninch tied the score by kicking goal.

Johnson and Moor scored two more touchdowns for Ashland in the last quarter which gave the visitors a 13 point lead in the final 20 to 7 score.

Johnson scored after intercepting a pass on Harding's 40 yard line. Fouts kicked goal.

Quarterback Moor gave Ashland the lead by scoring a second touchdown in the last period by making only 6 inches on a quarterback sneak. Fout's attempt at goal was blocked.

Second Half

Harding lost the game in the last few minutes of play, that's if it had anything to lose. Ashland scored two and one-half minutes after the game started and it took Harding less time to score after the beginning of the second half. But, that last quarter!

Harding only had the ball to an advantage once in the last half. The remainder of the time Ashland kept possession of the oval. And while the Orange and Black had the ball in their possession they made good use of it.

Stone-Wall Gone

Harding's stone-wall defense turned to putty in the rain Saturday and McDowell did the rest. The Red and Black's big heavy defense meant nothing to the winners who broke through and went around the wings time and time again. Ashland's team was much too shifty.

Offense for the locals was hardly given a fair test because they didn't have the ball long enough to run off a good series of plays.

When it is all said and done, Harding just appeared about as bewildered in the Ashland game Saturday as Findlay did the previous Saturday before Harding's onslaught, in the college city.

First Half

Paul Beany Johnson, a big brother of another big Johnson by the name of Maurice too well known to local and other N. C. O. League football players, was just a little bit surprised Saturday when he got away from Harding for Ashland's first score. He made a nice 40-yard run through the Red and Black. He looked good hurling his opponents to one side, then the other.

Everyone was evidently overcome with surprise. The Red and Black's big special band even forgot how to play while the Ashland and other visiting rooters made the noise. Harding buckled their belts one notch tighter and play started just a little different.

Dry Field Play

At this time remember please that the cow pasture was fairly dry and in excellent playing condition compared with its condition later in the game, especially the second half when it was almost impossible to walk across it, let alone attempt to run on it.

Ashland used its mud cleats all the time, and we couldn't blame it for that. Harding didn't use mud cleats because only one or two players could afford to buy them—and we couldn't blame the remainder of the Red and Black team for that.

Second Quarter

Play continued in the center of the field a good portion of the first 12½ minutes, with the exception of the moment Johnson scored for Ashland.

The next period found the two teams evenly matched in no man's land. Neither team threatened to score. Ashland, in the last two minutes approached to Harding's 15-yard line, but the Red and Black took the ball on downs and kicked well out of danger. As the first half ended Ashland completed a pass which gave them a first down on Harding's 30-yard line.

Third Quarter

Taking the ball from the 30 yard mark, Ashland made two first downs which put the ball on Harding's 10 yard line. This time it looked as if the visitors might be able to go over again. But, Harding's men rallied to the cheers of the Red and Black band and leaders and held. They took possession of the ball while Ashland was attempting to figure a way to cross. Harding kicked to midfield and before Ashland was able to recover from the shock of losing possession of the ball on downs at Harding's 10 yard stripe, the Red and Black took the ball again and started down the field to the visitor's goal. This time play was more determined by Coach Sprout's men and they gained 8 and 10 yards each time they called a play. Four first downs placed the locals near Ashland's 25 yard line and a 10 yard penalty against Ashland put the oval on the Orange and Black's 10 yard line. That was about as close as Harding got to scoring in the last three quarters.

Ashland took possession of the pigskin and kicked to the 50 yard line. From that on, Harding played a down hill game while Ashland ran wild every time it got hold of the wet slippery point getter.

Ashland's plays were fast, systematic and without a great amount of fault. Only a few times was it forced to use its ozone attack, which had been predicted to give it a chance at victory. It was fortunate, indeed, that it was not forced to use more of those throws termed passes at McDowell High. They were far too high and very dangerous against a team like Harding. It will be a long time before Ashland wins a game on passes if it continues tossing the oval like a basketball. Its passes appeared more like punts than anything we have witnessed on the 100 yard oblong this season.

Harding Slows

Harding lacked its punch Saturday. Its plays were few and not varied. Only once or twice did it display its aerial attack. Defense was gone against Ashland's speedy attack. In all it was outclassed from the start.

BUCKEYE WINNERS RECEIVE WELCOME

Columbus, Oct. 18—A rousing welcome was accorded Ohio State's team, conquerors of Columbia, on their return to Columbus, this morning. Coach Jack Wilce planned a week of intensive practice in preparation for the game next Saturday with Iowa, the first Big Ten Conference contest for the Buckeyes this year.

GALION WATCHES WIG PFEIFER'S ASHLAND TEAM

Pump City Eleven Winning for Former League Coach

Much Galion interest is centered this season in the Ashland College football team which has as its coach none other than the famous "Wig" Pfeifer, former Galion star athlete and mentor.

After coaching four years at Galion and winning two undisputed football championships and tieing one, Coach Pfeifer went to Bucyrus last year and won the championship. Before he took charge of the Ashland College athletics the Purple and Gold had not won a game in two seasons.

Saturday the Ashland Pfeiferites won their second consecutive game, defeating Kenyon 7 to 6. Although Coach Pfeifer has been seriously ill and could not accompany his team to Gambier, the tactics, clever plays and fighting spirit he had given the players, resulted in victory.

The winning play came in the second period when Muir of Kenyon fumbled and "Fat" Allerding, versatile and alert Ashland guard scooped up the ball and ran 40 yards for touchdown.

Another interesting feature was the playing of Newhouse, one of Kenyon's mainstays, who is another Galion son.

He was captain of the Galion High School football team in 1923 and a Pfeifer trained man. Playing against his former coach's team was a novel and immensely exciting experience. He played with vim and vigor and drew great cheers from the stands.

Eastern Division Appears Strongest, Westerners Next, Then Comes South

Yale's 21-0 Victory Over Dartmouth, Notre Dame and Pennsylvania Wins from Penn State and Chicago, Respectively, Were Only Surprises; Army and Navy Win

BY DAVIS J. WALSH

NEW YORK, Oct. 18—The incorrigible but durable experts blocked several light leads very neatly with the chin during Saturday's gridiron free-for-all but, with few exceptions, orthodoxy and the infallible Hoyle were served.

This doesn't happen very often, but even an expert can't be wrong all the time.

The most obvious of the exceptions was Yale's victory over Dartmouth and the 21 to nothing defeat of Tulane by New York University. To these might be added that fact that Notre Dame and Pennsylvania beat Penn State and Chicago, respectively, by four touchdowns and Southern Methodist was able to pull out a 7 to 7 tie with Missouri. The latter indicated that Southern Methodist is better than anyone suspected or that Missouri is not the team it was last year, in spite of its victory over Nebraska.

It played a previous tie with Tulane, which finished a surprisingly indifferent second to New York University, although the fact that the Tulane-Missouri game was played under impossible conditions prevented either team from showing much except a muddy exterior. However, we will know more about Missouri in the next several weeks, for the Missouri Valley Conference is hardly a philanthropic organization.

As for Tulane, it came here admitting that it lacked some of the 1925 brilliance; New York University on the other hand, is one of the real eastern leaders. It is unlikely, however, that either team expected to lose by twenty one points.

Penn Watches Notre Dame Score

Notre Dame's four touchdowns against Penn State, following its conclusive victory over Minnesota, indicated very clearly that Rockne has mustered another fine team. Pennsylvania also may enter the championship stakes after its performance against Chicago. The latter's rather inexperienced line was out-played all the way and seemed completely mystified by Penn's hidden ball tactics.

It was quite an intersectional day first and last. Ohio State scoring an expected decision over Columbia; Harvard breaking out of the maiden class at the expense of William and Mary; Cornell beating Michigan State, although the latter scored fourteen points, and Loyola, of New Orleans, running up a big score on Detroit, which apparently has fallen from its high estate.

Eastern Teams Are Leaders

A recapitulation shows the East taking the honors for the day, with four victories against two defeats. The West won two, lost three and tied one and the South gained one decision, dropped two and got a tie.

The most surprising feature of Dartmouth's first defeat since 1923 was the fact that Yale took the play away from the green in forward passing, which was supposed to be Dartmouth's best bet. Otherwise, a Yale victory always had been conceded as a distinct possibility.

Two years ago, California's defeat would have been echoed around the

RICKARD HOME FROM W. VIRGINIA

Starting Busy Indoor Fight Season for New York

New York, Oct. 18—Indoor boxing in New York was scheduled to get under way with definite finality this week with the simultaneous arrival tomorrow of Tex Rickard and Ace Hudkins and the possibility of matches being closed between Jack Sharkey and Jack Delaney and Jack Dempsey and Harry Persson, of Sweden.

Rickard is returning from his honeymoon in West Virginia and probably will confer with Dempsey this week on the possibility of the former champion appearing in the Garden this winter as the start of his contemplated comeback.

The Sharkey-Delaney match may be lost by Rickard, owing to the light heavyweight champion's aversion to fighting for Tex. But the latter is said to hold an old contract for the bout and may force Delaney to toe the mark.

Hudkins is enroute East to finish training for his return match with Phil McGraw, of Detroit, in the Garden on Oct. 29. The bout will be fought at 140 pounds, marking Hudkins' first appearance as a junior welterweight.

He took third when Dougherty went out, Ferner to Roseberry. He scored on Bacon's single, Bacon taking second on the throw to catch Rowan at the plate. Bacon was caught at third on Price's hot one to the second baseman. Price was left on first when Conroy flew to short.

Second Game Called

The second game was called by agreement at the end of the seventh, as it was getting too dark to see the ball Each team had scored three runs.

Crestline started out to win the game in the very first inning. F. Hipp walked. He was caught at second when his brother hit to Main. Donaldson made the putout at second, but A. Hipp beat Don't throw to first. He went to third on Miller's single to right, and both scored when Chet Sharrock, recently released by Marion, hit the center field fence with a two-bagger. Cross grounded to Conroy, and Poole struck out.

Marion scored in the first. Rowan hit a single and scored when Tommy Dougherty doubled to right. Bacon struck out. Price went out, second to first. Sailor Sharrock walked, but was left when Conroy hit to the third baseman for an easy out at first.

The tying run was pushed over in the second. Donaldson flied out. Brashear went out, second to first. Reese got on on the shortstop's wild throw and took second when the ball hit the fence. He scored on Rowan's single to center. Dougherty ended the inning by flying to the third baseman.

Marion took the lead in the fourth. Conroy, first up, hit a single to center. Donaldson flied to third. Joe scored on hits by Brashears and Reese. Rowan and Dougherty both flied to left.

Crestline Ties Score

Crestline tied the score in the fifth when F. Hipp, first up, picked one of his liking and put it over the left field wall. This ended the scoring.

Reese pitched a good game, as did Stahl. The members of both teams were disappointed because no decision could be reached, but the umpires decided it was too dark to continue after the seventh inning.

No regrets were heard that there were not three games. The weather was bitter cold and two good games made a big menu for the ball hungry fans to talk about until next spring

The games were well handled by E. C. Macken and Pete Lattimore. In the first game Mack called the balls and strikes, and Pete patrolled the bases. In the second game they traded positions.

CHAMBERS HOPES TO SEE GEORGIA WIN

He's an attorney at law.
Veteran of the World war.
Graduate of the University of Georgia.
Lecturer.
Writer.
Politician.

But first and foremost a football enthusiast.

He spends his time from Thanksgiving to Labor Day getting his business affairs arranged so he can devote most of his time between Labor Day and Thanksgiving to football.

He's at it again.

Hot wires from him already on prospects of the southern teams.

Already has hopes of seeing the University of Georgia beat Yale. His enthusiasm and loyalty may be egging him on there, but that's what makes college football a game apart from all others.

Chambers had considerable grid experience himself but the World war prevented him from playing college football. He played prep football at Richmond Academy and was set to attend the University of Georgia when the World war came along. He played on service teams in his idle moments and was a member of the eleven which won the A. E. F. championship in 1918.

The war, however, had kept him out of school so long that he devoted all his time to his studies when he entered the Georgia U.

Out of school he found himself hankering for football again. The next football heard of him he was startling folk in Augusta, Ga., his home town, with his predictions on big football games in the south and other sections. His predictions drew general circulation finally until now he is almost nationally known for his uncanny ability to size up teams and their chances.

You'll probably hear more of him this fall.

I know he'll pester me to death with his advance bulletins.

And let 'em come.

RACE TIGHTENS FOR LITTLE OHIO GROUP PENNANT

Bowling Green 1925 Champions, Defiance and Findlay Undefeated

Bowling Green, Oct. 18—The little Ohio Conference is neatly tied in a three-cornered chase for 1926 football honors as the result of Defiance and Findlay winning Saturday.

The former trounced Toledo University, 12 to 0, while Findlay bested Bluffton, 6 to 0, by falling on a blocked punt behind the goal posts.

Bowling Green College, 1925 champions, was not scheduled to play so remains in a tie with Defiance and Findlay for the conference lead, all being undefeated this year. Toledo has lost one game and Bluffton two.

The important game next Saturday, will be between Bowling Green and Findlay at the former's gridiron. Last year these teams battled to a scoreless tie. Bowling Green will outweigh Findlay considerably, but the latter is reputed to be much faster.

Bluffton will have a chance to pull out of the cellar position when it meets Toledo University at Toledo.

THEY'LL BE THERE!

ENGLISH LORD IS BIG TURF WINNER

London, Oct. 18—With the 1926 flat racing season coming to a close in England, Lord Woolavington, head of the Buchanan Distilling interests, emerges as the most successful owner of the year, his winnings totaling approximately $200,000.

"Coronach," winner of the derby and St. Leger, brought Lord Woolavington stakes of approximately $160,000, the greatest sum ever earned in a single year by any English race horse.

world like, the shot of Sarajevo. But the Bear is not what he was and Oregon Aggies are rated as one of the best teams in the coast conference. Neither was there anything very startling about Stanford's defeat of Nevada, except that Warner's outfit got away to a standing start and once trailed at 9 to 0. In the other coast games of importance, Southern California won from Occidental, 28 to 6; Washington beat Idaho, 26 to 0, and Washington State scored over Montana, 14 to 6.

Alabama Scalps Georgia Tech

Alabama showed some of its 1925 power in beating Georgia Tech, 21 to 0, following Tech's victory over Tulane, while Vanderbilt was one touchdown better than Texas. But Florida and Georgia proved conclusively that they lack representative teams by losing to Mercer and Furman, respectively.

Army and Navy Win

Both the Army and Navy had to come from behind to win, although the latter was a rather obvious superior to Princeton, weakened by the loss of Slagle. It was the Tiger's first defeat. The Army played one of those wild games with Syracuse and finally won, 27 to 21, after the Orange had showed it wakefulness by scoring two early touchdowns on an intercepted pass and a fumble.

Pittsburgh, West Virginia and W and J. also won in the East, the two latter maintaining unbeaten records So did the Big Ten leaders, Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois. Michigan beat Minnesota, 20 0, Illinois came through against Iowa, 13 6; Northwestern defeated Indiana, 20 to 0, and Wisconsin and Purdue played a scoreless tie. These returns just about proved where the real strength rested.

The same was true in the Missouri Valley, Nebraska beating Washington; Kansas Aggies scoring easily over Kansas; Oklahoma disposing of Drake and Iowa State and Grinnell failing to score.

MT. VERNON HI IS VICTORIOUS OVER GALION 11

Visitors Gain Victory with Scoring in Early Moments of Game

Galion, Oct. 18—A series of brilliant end runs and a smashing line attack were responsible for Mt. Vernon's 13 to 7 triumph over Galion at Hiese field Saturday. The Galionites were greatly handicapped by the absence of their coach, who attended his college homecoming game, but fought consistently throughout the game.

The "Rockne" plan of sending second stringers in at the start, was tried but after the opponents had registered two touchdowns the better trained Orangemen were put into the fray. They fought gamely to overcome Mt. Vernon's lead and although one touchdown was scored the visitors' heavy line prevented the making of more points. Galion's lone score occurred when one of the Orangemen recovered a Mt. Vernon's fumble. He was downed in his tracks but in two plays, both line bucks, the ball was pushed across the line.

All the scoring took place in the first quarter, Mt. Vernon making both touchdowns during the first six minutes of play. During the remainder of playing time the teams appeared evenly matched and the final whistle interrupted a splendid march toward the goal which would probably have tied the score for G. H. S.

Galion fans cheered wildly as Little Kersch, star halfback who was injured in the Mansfield game, was sent in during the last few minutes of play. Although unable to accomplish much in this short time he showed that he was none the worse for his injuries and would be ready for use in future contests.

Band Out

The new band, twenty pieces strong, made their first appearance. White trousered and wearing blue flannel capes lined with orange and blue and orange caps they received a tremendous ovation.

Next week Shelby high's gridders will invade Galion and it will take all that the Orangemen can offer to withstand the tube city lad's fierce attacks.

Musterole is easy to apply and works right away. It may prevent a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiffneck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventures

BY JUDD MORTIMER LEWIS

...e stayed at my house and slept ... and Jubilee Saturday night, ... and me fell asleep n our chairs ... his folks and my folks was visit... Then when he woke up my mother ... him he might stay with me all ... if his folks wanted him to, and ... they had to say they wanted him ...

... I had pulled up Jubilee by the ... his teeth I said he was a very ... dog and Banty said not so very. ... I kept saying he was, and Banty ... saying he wasn't long after we got ... Then Banty kept wiggling ... in bed and said maybe Jubilee ... more flees on him than any other ... said, but he was not any smarter. ... he said hanging to the rope with ... teeth and being pulled up and let ... was not anything, and I said it ... more than he could do, and Banty ... bet it wasn't, so we got up and ... the rope and he hung from the ... and I gave him the rope in his ... and started to let him down.

... I had let him down in the ... a long ways I asted him if he was down yet in a loud whisper, and he said, "No" and then I heard a bump, because he had to let go of the rope to say "No". I told him to get the rope in his teeth again and I would pull him up, and he said one of his teeth was loose and he couldn't.

Just then my aut's window opened and she said: "What is going on out here?" Banty said: "I must of been walking in my sleep and fell out of the window." Then my mother's voice said, "Well, I declare! Come around to the kitchen door and I will make a light and look you over to see where you are hurt." Banty didn't want to be looked over, so he hiked home in his shirttail in the dark and his father came over after his pants in the morning.

We were talking about it on the way to the pasture this morning and I asted him why, when he found his tooth was loose, he didn't hang on with his hands and let me pull him up, and he said he never thought of that. I just looked at him and said: "And you are what thinks it is smarter than Jubilee." The rest of the bunch hoorawed him, and he did not have any thing to say.

Daily Bedtime Story

BY HOWARD GARIS

Uncle Wiggily and His Friends

There must be a busy little fairy, who loves to sew, somewhere around my hollow stump bungalow," said Mrs. Longears, the rabbit lady, one day.

"Why do you think so?" asked Uncle Wiggily, who, having given his pink nose a twinkle, was ready to go adventuring. "What has the sewing fairy done?"

"Taken my thimble, for one thing," answered the bunny gentleman's wife. "I laid it here on the sill of the open window while I went to get Scrimble and Scramble a piece of carrot pie, and when I came back it was gone!"

"Do you mean the pie was gone?" asked Uncle Wiggily, twinkling his eyes instead of his nose. "That isn't surprising, with Scrimble and Scramble home from school."

"No, I mean my thimble was gone!" said Mrs. Longears. "And Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy said this morning that she laid her scissors on the back steps a moment while she went in to give the dishes their bath, and when she came out her scissors were gone. A little fairy must be taking things. I wonder who it is?"

"I shall keep my eyes open to see," said the bunny gentleman. "As soon as I come back from adventuring I will find out who took your thimble and Nurse Jane's scissors."

So Mr. Longears hopped over the fields and through the woods, looking here and there for adventures, but none could he find.

"I think I will lie down on this soft log and go to sleep," said the rabbit when he had grown tired of trying to find something to hapen, which, after all, is an adventure. "When I awaken, well, we shall see what we shall see," and he laughed merrily. For he knew if he did not find an adventure at one time he would at another.

The log was soft because it had on it a covering of green moss, and when the rabbit gentleman stretched out he felt as comfortable as if he were in his bed at the bungalow. Soon he was asleep.

All of a sudden he was awakened by feeling some one tugging at his watch chain and, thinking it was Mrs. Longears, of whom he was dreaming, he said:

"I'll get up directly, my dear! Is breakfast ready?"

Then, when he opened his eyes, and looked at the trees all about him—trees whereon the leaves were turning with the frost—the bunny remembered he had been asleep, and, laughing, said:

"It was all a dream!"

But when he looked down where his watch chain should have dangled, and did not see it, and when he felt in his pocket and found no watch, Uncle Wiggily exclaimed:

"Why the same little fairy must be here who took Nurse Jane's scissors and my wife's thimble. Oh, ho! I shall catch you, little fairy! Bring back my watch, if you please! Bring back the thimble and scissors!"

Uncle Wiggily looked around, but saw no one, though high up in the air a voice seemed to laugh:

"Haw! Haw! Haw!"

Then the bunny looked up in a tree and saw a high nest and on the edge of this nest sat a black crow. And it was the black crow bird who was calling, "Caw! Caw! Caw!" which sounded like a laugh. From the black crow's beak dangled Uncle Wiggily's watch and chain.

"Why, the idea!" exclaimed the rabbit in surprise. "Why did you take my watch and chain?"

"Oh, excuse me!" cawed the crow. "I saw that you were asleep and I thought that you would have no use for a watch. You can't tell time when you are asleep. So I took it!"

"Ha! Ha!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "That's so funny! I guess you didn't think I would wake up, did you? And how about my wife's thimble and Nurse Jane's scissors? Did you take them?"

He felt in his pocket.

"Yes," cawed the black bird. "They are in my high nest. You know it is hard for a crow, like myself, to keep from picking up bright things. But I will bring back your watch and the thimble and scissors, and I'll not take any more things unless you give them to me."

Then the bird flew down, bringing back the bright things, and all was well. But Mrs. Longears was a bit sorry there was no little fairy. And if the teapot doesn't try to catch the goldfish in the coffee strainer, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the Bob Cat's bow.

Next to eavesdropping where one is being talked about, for painful consequences, is subscribing to a clipping bureau.

SELLING MOVEMENT IN STOCKS SLACKENS PACE

Moderate Price Rally in Evidence Many Buy Railroad Shares

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks firm; industrial stocks reactionary; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds steady; call money 5 per cent; grains steady; copper steady; oil steady; cotton reactionary; rubber steady; sugar steady; pig iron steady, foreign exchange steady.

New York, Oct. 18.—A moderate rally in prices of industrial stocks, combined with impressive buying of the railroad shares today were accepted in Wall st. as evidence that the heavy selling movement had run its course, for the time being.

For the most part the fluctuations in stock prices represented little more than simultaneously short covering and selling by the professionals, to which might be added a certain amount of liquidation of stocks and distribution by the pools. At any rate, stocks refused to slump under pressure as they did in the last few sessions, and the professional bears were not inclined to carry their advantage in the motor and steel stocks much farther.

The promptness with which the market absorbed the $42,500,000 new long term six per cent Chilean government bonds was an evidence of the abundance of investment funds. The call loan renewal rate was marked down to 4 1-2 per cent after opening at 5 per cent and bank funds were in good supply, though some callings of loans was reported.

Considering the nature of the current decline in stock prices, the volume of selling orders awaiting the opening of the market today was comparatively small.

TO DISTRIBUTE TEST BLANKS HERE TUESDAY

Diphtheria Immunization Work To Be Started Soon, Weiser Announces

Distribution of Schick test consent blanks to pupils of Marion's public and parochial schools in preparation for diphtheria immunization work will take place Tuesday, Dr. W. J. Weiser, city health commissioner, announced today.

The blanks will be handed to all children attending grades below the Junior High School and tests will be given only to those whose parents sign the necessary papers.

Preliminary to administering the tests and the immunization treatment which is to follow, Dr. Weiser today issued a statement urging all parents especially those whose children are enrolled in the lower grade schools, to sign the blanks. The younger children are the ones who are most susceptible to diphtheria, Dr. Weiser states, and the tests are particularly effectual with them. Tests will also be given to all Junior High and Harding High pupils whose parents make the required request, but as there were few of these who took the treatment last year, it was decided to not distribute blanks in these schools.

Dr. Weiser urges that parents of all children who were immunized in 1925 sign consent blanks for repeating the test this year to ascertain if the youngsters are still immune. The treatment was given to 2,700 last year.

Administering of the Schick test was authorized about two months ago by the local Board of Health but the work was delayed for a time pending arrival of a supply of blanks and an official imprint stamp from the state Department of Health. This equipment has been received and all of the blanks are now in the hands of school authorities ready for Tuesday's distribution. The stamp will be used to officially record the tests.

Shortly after the blanks are returned to the schools by parents, work of administering the test will be started by Dr. Weiser, who is to be assisted by a representative of the state Department of Health.

The first woman to become a member of the United Spanish War Veterans, after the recent national convention of that organization voted to admit women to full membership, was Mrs. Annie E. Comfort of San Antonio, who served as a nurse in the Spanish war.

THIRD MARRIAGE TALK GIVEN BY REV. SMILEY

"The Kind of a Young Man a Young Woman Should Marry" Is Subject

An audience of 1,300 persons heard Rev. Raymond W. Smiley, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in the third of his series of talks on a religious study of marriage, Sunday night at the church. A musical program, including an organ prelude and postlude, a chorus number by the choir, a vocal solo by Miss Marguerite Brickman and a number by the mixed quartet, composed of Mrs. B. L. Wallace, Miss Brickman, H. O. Bresler and, V. C. Smith, Rev. Smiley spoke on the subject "The Kind of a Young Man a Young Woman Should Marry." He will speak next Sunday night on "Married—and Happy," and Oct. 31 on "Married—and Divorced."

"Ministers make mistakes, they pick subjects that are not interesting to listeners and subjects that have a universal interest are let alone," Rev. Smiley said in apologizing for his theme. "Perhaps they are let alone because they are too interesting—too interesting for the pulpit," he continued. "As if the pulpit should be dedicated to religious dullness.

"Marriage is an interesting subject, and a serious subject. Young people should not drift into it without being advised. They have two councilors, prudence and romance. They should not depend on these two solely but should use wisdom.

"The kind of a young man a young woman should marry will have a certain amount of education; will be a normal man; will be able to earn enough money to live on, will be broadminded and unselfish, will be clean and will have a religious complex."

SPEAKER GIVES HISTORY OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

London, England, Man Addresses Good Sized Audience at Marion Theater

A history of Christian Science and a survey of the doctrines which form the groundwork for the organization founded by Mary Baker Eddy, provided the subject matter of an interesting lecture given before a good sized audience at the Marion Theater, Sunday afternoon, by A. Harvey Bathurst of London, a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Boston. Mr. Bathurst's subject was "Christian Science; the Revelation of Truth." Below are excerpts from his address:

"Nearly twenty centures ago a momentous question, 'What is truth?' was asked by a man whose name has been handed down to posterity because he sat in judgment on 'the most scientific man that ever trod the globe,' as Mrs. Eddy refers to Jesus in 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures.' Is not that same question still being asked, directly or indirectly, by many millions of unsatisfied or dissatisfied people today?

"Let me say, however, that the number of dissatisfied people is decreasing; and the decrease commenced sixty years ago when Christian Science, or the Science or knowledge of the Christ, Truth, was revealed to a waiting and hungry world by a refined, cultured, and above all, spiritually-minded woman, Mary Bakee Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science.

"It is interesting to note that the courageous stand which Lincoln took against slavery,—his determination to free the slaves of the South, and the passing of the legislation which ensured that freedom to so many human beings,—was closely followed by the discovery of Christian Science by Mrs. Eddy. In the one case, human beings were being liberated from slavery to human taskmasters. In the other case, however, mankind is being freed from the bondage of sick or discordant beliefs, taskmasters far more relentless than were ever any slave-owners. I doubt if any of us can fully appreciate what it mean to stand midst the gibes and taunts of mankind,—in Lincoln's case against the hatred and opposition of what might be defined as the vested interests, or those who could only interpret Lincoln's action as implying disaster and failure for them.

"The story of Mrs. Eddy's discovery of Christian Science is now quite generally known. At a time when it was expected that the effects of the accident from which she was suffering would prove fatal, Mrs. Eddy begged to be left alone. She turned to the Bible and read that well-known passage in Matthew 9 where the Master healed the man sick of the palsy and said to him, "Arise, take up thy bed, and go unto thine house." Not only did Mrs. Eddy read the words, she understood the deep spiritual meaning of that statement: in other words, recognized and demonstrated man's God-given dominion or freedom, and rose from her bed healed. So sudden and surprising was the occurrence, that when she walked into the adjoining room those assembled there thought they beheld an apparition.
